Penniless parents beg: Cough it up! Cough it up!

Baby gobbles $11.3 million lottery ticket

By SUSAN JIMISON

An unemployed construction worker and his wife gambled their last dollar to play the lottery, won a whopping $11.3 million, then lost it all — when their baby ate the winning ticket!

Frantic Gorje and Paloma Mejilla forced the baby to spit up the precious ticket, but the soggy bits of paper were chewed beyond recognition.

"Our little girl swallowed up the one chance we had to live a decent life," said Mejilla, 21, who has not worked for more than a year. "We are just heartbroken. It doesn't seem fair."

Mejilla and his wife went to lottery officials in Bilbao, Spain, with their sad tale, but because they couldn't produce the ticket, their dream prize was passed on to someone else.

The down-and-out couple said they had spent most of their savings on food over the past few months and had almost nothing left when they bought a $1 ticket.

They had decided to gamble on the lottery because Paloma, 19, had a "sense" that they could win. "She just knew it, that's all — and I trusted her feelings," Mejilla said.

"We watched for the winning number and prayed a lot and, sure enough, it turned out to be our number. But when we looked for the ticket it was gone.

"Finally, we went into our baby's room and found bits of the envelope shredded on the floor.

"We found a stump of the ticket, just a corner. Little Maria had been chewing on it, he said.

After a frantic search failed to turn up the rest of the ticket, the Mejillas knew what had happened.

They said they stuck their fingers down their 14-month-old daughter's throat, forcing her to spit up, but it was too late to save the ticket.

They took the shreds of their ticket to lottery officials, but authorities ruled there were not enough fragments to prove they had the winning ticket.

"The Mejillas told a very tragic tale about the destruction of their ticket, and we have sympathy for them," said Teofilo Estadella, a lottery official.

"But they could not demonstrate to us that they had won."

Estadella said offers of jobs and assistance have poured into his offices since word of the Mejillas' plight was published in a local newspaper. Even without their super prize, the couple will be better off than before he said.

But the disappointed parents are still struggling to accept their misfortune. "Our baby ate our ticket to a wonderful new life," Mejilla said.

"Unfortunately, there goes her chance for college and a better life."

"UH-OH! What have I done?" little Maria Mejilla seems to be thinking.

Fed-up wife torches hubby's wooden leg

A sobbing housewife was jailed for murder after confessing that she only wanted to teach her run-around hubby a lesson when she set fire to his wooden leg — and couldn't douse the spreading blaze that killed the sleeping man.

. . . then can't stop the fire!

The bizarre tragedy occurred in Innsbruck, Austria, where authorities said 43-year-old Gretta Dasch was being held in the death of her husband, Josef.

Inspector Hermann Lueger said the attractive mother of three was hysterical when she called fire fighters to report a blaze that gutted a bedroom in the couple's apartment on the city's outskirts and claimed the life of her burly, one-legged hubby.

According to the inspector, Mrs. Dasch said her 46-year-old husband had always been very hardworking, sensible and a good father to their children. But all of that changed suddenly 18 months ago when the 250-pound truck driver lost his left leg above the knee in a car crash.

"He took to drinking heavily and set about squandering the sizable insurance settlement from his accident on good times and bad women. He would stay out all night, come home and pass out in bed."

Mrs. Dasch told police that she begged her husband to stop wasting his life and what little money they had left, but he refused to even speak to her.

"The woman finally reached the end of her rope and decided when her husband came home drunk again that she would take his wooden leg so he couldn't go out," Lueger said. "The problem was she didn't know how to remove it, so she poured kerosene on it

AILING DOCTOR HAD BEEN GIVEN 2 MONTHS TO LIVE

Diet cured my cancer!

Dying doctor Hugh Faulkner, who was given only two months to live, was cured of a deadly malignancy — by following a miracle diet that wipes out cancer.

The London physician was given only two months to live and had already made plans to enter a hospice when he switched to the oriental macrobiotic diet. Now, after two years of eating cereal, vegetables and beans, he is completely cancer free!

By SUSAN JIMISON

"Now I am feeling fit and well," said Dr. Faulkner, 76. "I have a very good life. I eat well, sleep well and I have more energy than I've had in years."

Dr. Faulkner found out he had pancreatic cancer in 1987 after he underwent tests for stomach pains and diarrhea. He underwent surgery to bypass his cancer-ridden pancreas, but the tumor could not be removed, Dr. Faulkner said.

After he left the hospital, Dr. Faulkner went for a Japanese massage to relieve pain in his back caused by the cancer. The masseuse asked him if he had considered trying traditional Japanese medicine to cure his cancer.

"I knew the prognosis for my case — it was two to four months survival from the date of diagnosis," Dr. Faulkner said. "I thought about it and came to the conclusion that at least the macrobiotic diet would improve the quality of the months remaining to me."

Dr. Faulkner went ahead and reserved a spot in a hospice near his home, then began his oriental miracle diet. Over half his food intake was brown rice or other cereals. The rest was vegetables and beans, with no animal fats, meat or dairy products.

Dr. Faulkner was allowed to drink a Japanese tea called bancha tea. But he was forbidden potatoes, eggplant or tomatoes and could not eat refined sugar, salt, honey, fresh fruit, tea or coffee.

"The diet was quite restrictive," Dr. Faulkner said.

"But from the start I felt better. The diarrhea went away and I began to feel very good. Friends who came to see me to say goodbye were all amazed to find me full of energy.

"The macrobiotic emphasis on positive thinking was very appealing, too. I was beginning to think I was getting better and was planning how to get the most out of my life."

Incredibly, Dr. Faulkner began to gain weight. A year later a series of tests showed his tumor shrinking.

A few months ago, it disappeared — and one doctor told Dr. Faulkner he didn't believe the old man had ever had cancer!

"As an orthodox doctor myself I wouldn't have thought of diet influencing the course of cancer," delighted Dr. Faulkner admits. "But now I'm quite sure that we can learn a great deal from alternative medicine."

NEWS readers who want more information on this macrobiotic diet can contact the Kushi Foundation in Brookline, Mass., 02146. They are a non-profit organization that provides diet information free of charge.

"He cried out like he was being murdered," said Lt. James Overcash, of the police department in Longview, N.C.

The cop had been called to the scene by the engineer of the Southern Railroad train who saw Winter between avoid running over him. Lt. Overcash said the man was positioned perfectly between the tracks or he would have been killed.

Man loses testicle down hot tub drain

By DAMON RAY

Michael Aleman's honeymoon plunged into horror when his left testicle was sucked into a hot tub drain — and torn off!

'I've never felt pain like that. Never. Ever!'

"I've never felt pain like that. Never. Ever," the 24-year-old man, who has filed an amazing $1 million lawsuit against the hotel that owns the tub, told reporters in Genoa, Italy. "The thing was over in seconds, but it changed my life forever."

The excruciating drama unfolded less than eight hours after Aleman and his new bride, Antonia, tied the knot in Genoa's St. Christopher Church.

After arriving at their honeymoon suite at a crosstown luxury hotel, the loving couple decided to spend a little time in their private hot tub.

No sooner were they in than Aleman turned the wrong way. One of the tub's eight, bottle-cap sized drains sucked in his left testicle and held it fast. The tragedy was apparently caused by a malfunction of the tub's pump system, which caused an unusually powerful suction through the drain.

"I felt like I had been hit by lightning," said Aleman.

"Of course, I screamed and made a quick move to free myself.

"But I slipped and that was all there was to it. There was blood in the water and I knew I was badly wounded.

"Oh, God, did I hurt."

Mrs. Aleman called for an ambulance before she fainted from shock. Paramedics tried but failed to retrieve Aleman's testicle from the drain.

They eventually took him to a Genoa hospital where doctors stitched up the damage and kept Aleman in a room overnight to make sure he was O.K.

The damage has temporarily deprived Aleman of anything approaching a normal sex life.

But he should be able to make love and even have children after his recovery is complete, doctors say.

"It was a hell of a way to spend my honeymoon but things could have been worse," said Aleman. "The drain could have been bigger.

"If that was the case I wouldn't have anything left.

"I shudder to think about it."

The hotel management refuses to dis-

Sex-starved cons warn:

We'll make Jim Bakker our 'girlfriend' in prison

TEARFUL Tammy Bakker, left, and disgraced TV evangelist hubby Jim, below, as he's escorted in chains to the psycho ward by law officers for evaluation. Both of them will have plenty to cry about if Jim gets sent up the river.

They are already fighting over him, says ex-inmate

By HENRY WEBER

Federal inmates hope PTL founder Jim Bakker is convicted of fraud and thrown into prison because they believe he'd be the perfect "girlfriend" to do time with!

Allegations of homosexuality have dogged the disgraced baby-faced televangelist since he resigned as chairman of the PTL board in 1987.

Now standing trial for fraud and conspiracy in Charlotte, N.C., Bakker is sure to be sent to a federal penitentiary if convicted.

And inmates are said to be "very excited" at the thought of sharing a cell with Bakker.

"It's not a pretty prospect for Jim Bakker," said a Macon, Ga., gas station attendant who spent 12 years in the federal prison in Atlanta.

"Homosexuality is rampant in any prison.

"And Bakker is just the kind of man who the other guys would go for.

"He's lived a rich and sheltered life and there's nothing anyone could do to prepare him for the sex and violence that he'd find in prison.

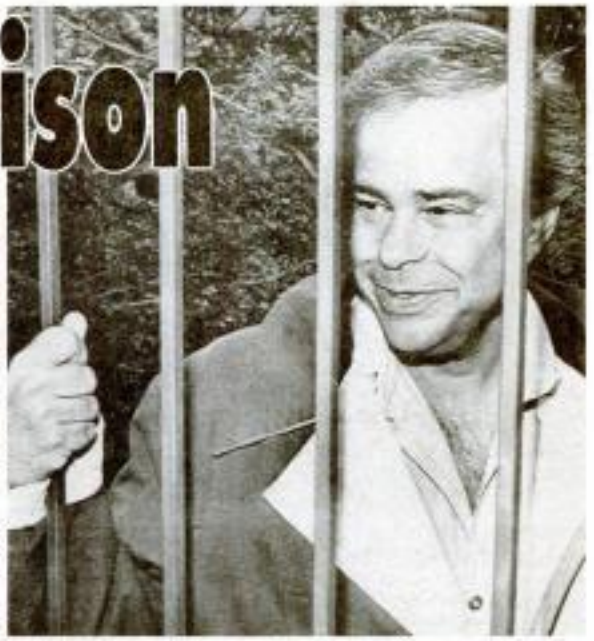
"I've still got buddies in the pen and they say the big boys are already fighting over Bakker.

"There's no way to put it delicately.

"They all want him to be their girlfriend."

Rumors from San Quentin, Attica, Leavenworth and other federal penitentiaries indicate that Bakker will be considered a prize no matter where he is imprisoned if convicted.

Sources say inmates would do anything to get next to the defrocked minister because he is still relatively young, handsome and a celebrity.



A SMILING Bakker stood behind the gates of his luxurious Palm Springs mansion as he talked to reporters last December.

ning PTL ministries suggest that he might already be familiar with the mind-blowing sexual kinkiness that is routine in prison.

"The inmates up at Attica were very disappointed when Bakker collapsed during his trial and was shipped off for a psychiatric evaluation," said one prison insider.

"They want a conviction and they want him sent to prison now.

"They've got plans for Bakker — big plans. And they don't like to wait for anything."

Neither Bakker nor his wife, Tammy, were available for comment.

But the ex-Atlanta inmate said: "When Bakker was taken for his psychiatric evaluation the papers said he said, 'Please don't do this to me.'

"If he's convicted and goes to prison he'll probably say the same thing. But inmates aren't going to listen to that crap. With Bakker they'll do any damn thing they please."

Shooting victim thinks he's dying — but it's only paint

A 67-year-old man thought he had been shot and was bleeding to death when a prankster in a passing car fired off a paint-pellet, hitting him in the arm!

Bob Bayerl was walking down a street in Reno, Nev., when he heard a "squish" and felt a sharp pain in his wrist.

He looked down and saw something that looked like blood and figured he was badly hurt.

bad," said Bayerl. "I knew I had been shot."

It wasn't until paramedics arrived a few minutes later that he realized the 'blood' flowing from his arm was actually paint.

Police officer Scott Sorensen explained that paint-pellet guns are used by people who enjoy war games.

Because the weapons fire soft, paint-filled bullets, people can shoot at each other

Re-VOLT-ing addiction to electricity

CURRENT AFFAIRS: Joel Bletner electrocuted himself.

Zap-happy guy fries himself to a crisp

By DAMON RAY

Pain-loving Joel Bletner zapped himself with electricity for kicks but one time he went too far — and electrocuted himself while he sat in an armchair!

The 39-year-old man was found with one end of an extension cord clipped to his chest and the other end plugged into a wall socket.

His body was also covered with tiny burns and scars that indicated he had been shocking himself lightly for years.

"There's no doubt that he had been shocking himself for a long time," Coroner Serge Bail told newsmen in Paris.

"The obvious conclusion is that he enjoyed doing it. He must have liked the jolt he got when he plugged himself in for a second or two.

"We don't know what happened to him on this particular occasion. All we know for sure is that he got too much juice and electrocuted himself. His body was actually smoking when police officers found him a few hours after he died."

Neighbors who alerted the authorities after they smelled burning flesh coming from Bletner's apartment were in shock to learn what had happened to their neighbor. They said Bletner was "a strange duck." But nobody dreamed he was shocking himself for kicks behind the closed door of his apartment.

A family member who did not want to be identified said Bletner had undergone electroshock therapy for depression in the 1950s.

Lourdes pilgrims beat bus driver to a pulp

SACRED shrine in Lourdes, France, was the scene of a bizarre fracas when a bus driver was beaten up by his devout Christian riders.

. . . because he was 10 minutes late!

By JACK ALEXANDER

An elderly bus driver was bitten, kicked and knocked unconscious by a group of Lourdes religious pilgrims — because he got them to a sacred shrine 10 minutes late.

"They call themselves Christians, but they acted like a pack of heathens," said battered and bruised David Thompson, 62, who suffered a bruised kidney in the brutal attack.

Thompson, who works seven days a week to pay medical bills for his invalid wife, got bottled up in traffic driving the Christians to the Roman Catholic shrine at Lourdes in France.

"Weekend traffic was bumper-to-bumper for several long miles," he told police. "The passengers were yelling and screaming at me. They were really getting nasty."

The veteran driver thought he'd done an amazing job getting the busload of Catholics to the shrine only 10 minutes late.

But Thompson was badly mistaken.

"Two passengers dragged me from the bus, punched me several times in the face and stomach," said Thompson.

"A woman rushed up and bit me on the arm. Another woman kicked me in the shin.

"And then someone's fist smashed me in the jaw and I passed out," he said.

The badly injured bus driver was taken to a hospital where doctors treated him for broken teeth, a bruised kidney, a fractured jaw, cuts and bruises.

But the bus driver's ordeal wasn't over.

He was viciously attacked by another one of the religious fanatics as he returned from the hospital to his hotel in Lourdes.

"I was phoning my employers — Target Travel — back in Cramlington, England, when an angry man came up and hit me square in the stomach," said Thompson.

Thompson said it could take months before the French take action against his assailants — if ever.

"If that is the case, I will seek full damages against all the people responsible in the civil courts here at home," he said.

Jo Baldrich:

Last year I was asked to test a weight loss formula and

I lost so much weight, so fast, that my doctor said, 'That's enough'!

HERE'S WHAT HAPPENED: I went from 178 to 115 pounds in no time while never depriving myself of the foods I like. One year later, I still haven't regained one pound!

I used to weigh 110 pounds when I was still in high school. Then, I got married, had my first child and there went my youthful figure. It bothered me but I thought that things would straighten themselves out. A year later, I had my second one and gained another 15 pounds. After my third one, I gained again, and when I had my fourth and last child, I ended up weighing an unsightly 179 pounds!

I WAS FAT!

My blood pressure was all the way up. I had become a good candidate for diabetes. My heart felt like it had become too weak to keep me going. Even getting up from a chair had become a chore. I felt permanently exhausted and was ashamed of myself each time I had to face the outside world.

So, my doctor put me on a special diet. At first, that worked a little, but later, as my willpower weakened, if it took me an entire week of terrible frustration to lose a miserable two pounds, the slightest escapade, like tasting my husband's dessert, quickly made me regain four!

It was as if I was getting fat from simply looking at yummy food!

From then on, I resolutely started to try every weight loss system on the market. EVERY SINGLE ONE OF THEM! Now and then, I would lose a little, but never for long. This went on until I was really feeling desperate and ready to cry.

Then, One Day . . .

I was asked to try a new formula (now called REDUCIN) on condition that I would write a statement after trying it for eight weeks. I thought: Why not, if it can't do any harm, even if it doesn't help, I have nothing to lose. Nevertheless, the first thing I did when I received the formula was to show it to my doctor who said: For me, it's O.K. It's harmless and if it helps, it's marvelous.

Five Days Later . . .

I had already lost 7 pounds! Imagine, I, who had tried it all, I was suddenly losing weight at the rate of more than a pound a day. Without any effort at all! I couldn't believe it was finally happening. I have always loved pizzas and chocolate. I would die for anything with chocolate. And now, I didn't have to give them up. The only difference is that, without noticing it at first, I was eating only half of what I used to.

PSYCHIC'S DEATHBED PREDICTIONS

PEERING into the future was the special talent of Margarethe Buchela.

The United States nukes Iran in 1991. Artificial ears eliminate deafness in 1996. And the AIDS threat vanishes after the world's last homosexual succumbs to the disease in 2000!

Those are just a few of the astonishing predictions psychic Margarethe Buchela recorded in a secret diary in the weeks before she died of cancer at her home in Bonn on Dec. 23, 1986.

For two years the diary lay hidden among Miss Buchela's personal effects. Her secretary and confidante, Claire Romay, just found it — and is now releasing the last predictions of the woman who was considered to be Europe's leading psychic for over 50 years.

In the 1920s she foretold World War 2, the development of atomic weapons and America's 1969 moon shot.

Over the course of her career she also foresaw the discovery of a huge stone face on Mars by America's Viking probe in 1976, the AIDS crisis and rise of Japan as an economic power years before they came to pass.

Here are the predictions that appear in Miss Buchela's deathbed diary:

U.S. nukes level Iran . . . cancer is cured . . . super-IQ kids dazzle world!

● America destroys Iran in a massive nuclear strike sparked by acts of terrorism in 1991.

● Hunger is eliminated worldwide when Chinese researchers find a way to grow and harvest microscopic animals for their protein in 1992.

● The bark of a common shrub is found to cure colon, lung and lymphatic cancers in 1993.

● The introduction of a fluoride-like additive to water supplies vanishes depression and anxiety problems throughout Europe and the United States in 1994.

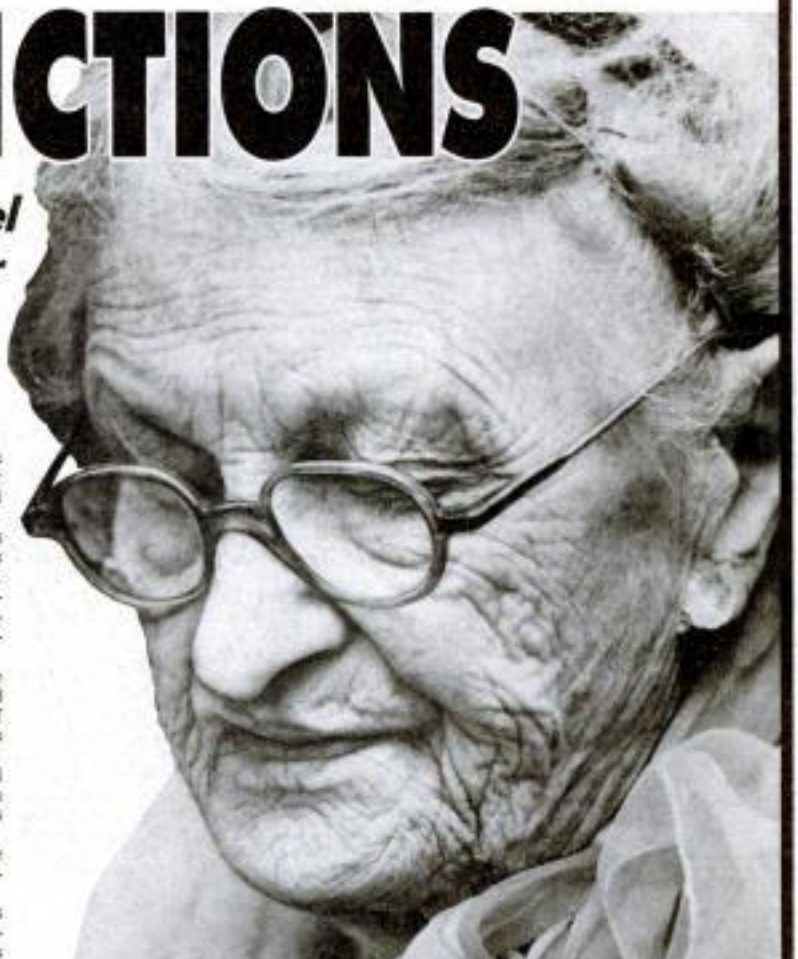
● The perfection of America's Star Wars defense system makes nuclear weapons obsolete in 1998. Conventional wars continue in underdeveloped countries but the superpowers enjoy an unprecedented era of peace.

● Soviets crack the language barrier with dolphins in 1999 and learn more about the mysteries of the sea in six months than was learned in the past 500 years.

● The development of artificial ears enables the deaf to hear in 1995. In 1996, artificial eyeballs and optic nerves end blindness.

● The AIDS crisis ends with the death of the world's last AIDS-infected homosexual in 2000.

● The birth of dozens of babies with IQs double that of the smartest people alive today is hailed as the greatest leap in human evolution ever.



INCREDIBLE POWERS: Margarethe Buchela left the world a magnificent gift.

Scorpion popcorn

Diane Bleckert was stung on the lip when she picked up a scorpion along with a handful of popcorn and put it in her mouth!

The 56-year-old woman actually bit the creature in half before she realized something was wrong and spit it out.

She was taken to Alta View Hospital in Sandy, Utah, for treatment. Authorities said the scorpion apparently crawled into the bowl of popcorn when she set it on the floor of her garage.

Pint-sized punk, 13, rapes woman at knifepoint

By JACK ALEXANDER

A 13-year-old boy who weighed about 100 pounds stuck a knife to the throat of a 22-year-old woman and raped her.

Officials in Seattle, Wash., said it wasn't the first time the pint-sized little punk had used force to get sex.

In 1987, he threatened to throw a 6-year-old girl into a blackberry bush if she didn't perform oral sex in front of several boys. She complied.

Judge Anthony Wartnik sentenced the youngster to nearly four years in a juvenile center for first-degree rape in the knife attack on the woman.

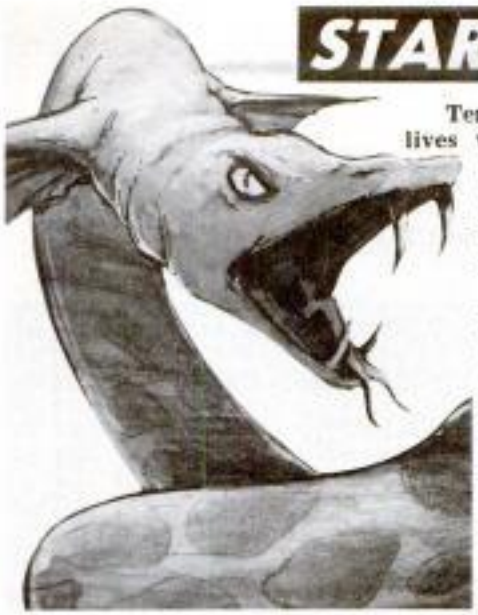
Sea serpent rules lake in China



ARTIST'S CONCEPTION of dragon-like creature discovered in China's Lake Tianchi.

Terrified tourists ran for their lives when a dragon-like monster rose up out of a lake in northern China and blew a 50-foot stream of water out of its nose, the Kweichow Daily News reports.

Witnesses told the newspaper that the creature surfaced near the east bank of Lake Tianchi in the Changbai mountains and appeared to be at least 70 feet long.

Their descriptions of the monster's features were confirmed by a photo taken as the sea serpent emerged from the lake.

The creature has a small head, long slender neck and enormous lizard-like body.

"It came up out of the water and roared like a locomotive!" said Shen Ruder, one of 50 tourists who witnessed the spectacle.

"At first nobody moved or even said a word. We didn't believe what we were seeing. But when it cocked its head and sprayed water out of its nose, somebody screamed and everybody started running.

"We got back in the bus and told the driver to get us out of there — and he did."

Rumors that a monster lives in the lake first began to circulate more than 90 years ago, when hunters reported seeing a huge golden creature rise up out of the water.

Hundreds of individuals have reported seeing it since. But the most recent incident marked the first time that the creature was photographed. It is also the only time the serpent has been seen by such a large group.

The NEWS first reported the serpent sightings in 1985.

As always we will continue to keep a close watch on this remarkable story.

THIS PHOTO of the monster was taken by one of the tourists.

It's a chance of a lifetime you won't want to miss!

SPEND A WHOLE WEEKEND WITH OL' BLUE EYES

CROONIN' Frank Sinatra wants YOU to spend a weekend with him — for only $25G! He doesn't really need the dough, though — it's all going for a good cause.

For a mere $25G, Frank Sinatra will make YOU the toast of the town!

Crooner Frank Sinatra wants to spend a weekend with you — but only if you have an extra 25 grand lying around collecting dust.

For $25,000 a couple, Ol' Blue Eyes and his wife Barbara will squire you around for the entire November 17-19 weekend beginning with cocktails at the spacious Sinatra home in Rancho Mirage, Calif.

From there you'll be whisked to Vegas in a private jet, where you'll settle into a sumptuous hotel suite and see a show. The next night you'll join other celebs at a roast for Dodgers manager Tommy Lasorda.

On Sunday morning, you'll sip your way through an extravagant champagne brunch and then be given a fond farewell before you fly home.

Rick was also aware of Elvis' cleanliness fetish and always asked the late-night lovelies to lather-up in the shower before they put on Elvis' pajama tops. — Chicago Tribune.

Ron Howard, Happy Days' own little Richie Cunningham, recalls exactly when the idea for his new movie, Parenthood, came to him.

"I had this really long plane flight where I was surrounded by my kids. One of them threw up on me in the first 45 minutes of the flight and I didn't have another shirt," said Howard.

"My twin daughters weren't even 2 yet — a terrible time to be flying with kids. My oldest daughter was not quite 6. It was awful.

"One guy came up to me — he looked terrible, this guy — and he said, 'I haven't slept in four days. Please make them shut up!'

"Of course, there was nothing I could do about it. I thought, 'My God, my life has gotten complicated. When did this happen?' " he said.

My aborted baby's GHOST is scaring me to death

. . . says its terrified mom

"I never should have killed my baby," says a frightened Carlotta Cabrera, "and now I'm going to burn in hell!"

By IRWIN FISHER

A terrified young woman says the baby she aborted is haunting her house.

The tiny specter is no bigger than a peanut but Carlotta Cabrera insists that it is real — and now believes she is going to burn in hell for murdering her unborn child!

"I never should have killed my baby," the 23-year-old woman told newsmen in Rio Claro, Brazil.

"The doctors and all my friends told me a fetus wasn't really a human being, but now I know better.

"If it wasn't human it couldn't haunt me. But it does haunt me — it hovers over my bed late at night and follows me around the house by day.

"It doesn't speak but sometimes it gasps like it's trying to get some air."

'Docs say a fetus isn't human, but now I know better'

The mind-blowing drama unfolded when Miss Cabrera and her boyfriend, Mario da Manha, found out she was pregnant last May.

After weeks of indecision they decided that she should have an abortion. The 3-month-old fetus was plucked from her womb on July 5 — and that's when her nightmare began.

The mist-like ghost, which could stretch out in a bottle cap, appeared and hovered a few inches above her eyes after she went to bed.

Since that time it has appeared dozens of times. Miss Cabrera says her boyfriend saw it — then packed his bags and moved away.

"I have asked God to forgive me for having the abortion but I know that He has not heard my prayers," said the woman. "I murdered my baby and now I must pay the price. I know I am going to hell."

Psychiatrist Irene Correa has been counseling Miss Cabrera for several weeks but has yet to reach any conclusions about the tiny ghost the young woman claims to see.

"The spirit could be a manifestation of her guilt," said the doctor. "On the other hand it might really be a ghost.

"I do know that Miss Cabrera is seeing something. She is certainly not making this up."

While Dr. Correa continues to counsel Miss Cabrera, antiabortion forces are making it clear that they believe the little ghost is real.

One group is actually citing the woman's trauma in a campaign to make other women think twice before having abortions of their own.

"Women who have abortions are murderers and deserve to be haunted," one antiabortionist said.

DO-IT-YOURSELF CA$H

Photocopiers are getting too good, say feds

Today's high-tech photocopiers are so sophisticated that just about anyone can use them to counterfeit money!

"At one time counterfeiting was very specialized. It was like an art," said Hunter Howerton, a Secret Service agent in Charleston, W. Va. "Now all you have to be able to do is press a button."

The recent conviction of a man who printed $800,000 in U.S. and Canadian currency proves Howerton's point.

Experts said the $20, $50 and $100 bills the man produced on a Canon Color Laser Copier were virtually indistin-

Limp-wristed fruitcakes up in arms over insults

I'm madder than a ballet dancer with a run in his tights over a militant group of squealing little fruitcakes in San Fran-sissy-co who want gays and lesbians to pack pistols and learn karate to keep normal folks from picking on them and calling them names.

MY AMERICA
By ED ANGER

Gay rights wackos have announced the creation of the Gay/Lesbian/Bisexual Defense Institute — a kind of baby blue boot camp for drag queens, Key West poster boys and beefcake gals with hairy armpits and 17-inch biceps.

"God almighty, Ed," my Uncle O.V. Potter said when I told him about these lisping Rambo-ettes.

"All they need to round out these platoons of pantywaists are some transvestite midgets!" What the fairies are pitching such a hissy fit about are harmless little things like normal people tripping them when they roller-skate down the street or putting sugar in the gas tanks of the Harley-Davidson hog motorcycles that lesbians like to ride.

Let's face it, the only thing these pansies are going to shoot are themselves in the feet — because they're too limp-wristed to hold a pistol out straight.

And another thing. Why do these mincing little creeps need guns to protect themselves anyway?

All they have to do is snap their teeth like toy poodles and threaten to bite people and give them AIDS.

You'd stand a better chance against a .45 full metal jacket slug than that nasty little disease.

And everybody knows that if these funny boys are really serious about not being picked on, they could get their muscle-bound lesbian buddies to be their bodyguards.

Hell, this is just what America needs — a bunch of gun-totin' pansies ready to plug any normal person who calls them names.

Now everybody knows that I'm against ANY gun control.

But this takes the cake.

No homosexual or dyke should be allowed to own a pistol or rifle.

These are just the kind of certified fruitcakes who would give gun ownership a bad name for all proud Americans who only blast people when they sneak into their homes or something like that.

But if these flaming fags are determined to pack a piece, I've got just the gun for them.

It's a brand-new pistol Smith and Wesson is selling to women and it's called The LadySmith.

Perfect name for a gay gunfighter's shootin' iron, don't you think?

Frightened family hears FDR broadcast — live!

OLD RADIO PLAYS 1930s PROGRAMS!

Telecommunications experts are said to be reeling over the discovery of an old-timey tube radio that receives and plays broadcasts from the 1930s — live!

By DEBORAH WALDROP

Private electronic engineers hired by the family who owns the old Philco table set have yet to make a report.

But several sources independently confirmed that the 55-year-old receiver is in fact the focus of an "unusually intensive study" by engineers.

According to one highly placed insider, the experts have tuned in and analyzed some 12 hours of programming that was broadcast nationwide in 1934, including Amos 'n' Andy, the Rudy Vallee Show and Walter Winchell's Jergen's Journal.

That doesn't include the Jack Benny Show and one of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's Fireside Chats heard by the family who found the radio in the attic of their north Georgia home — and fled the house until engineers arrived to take tronic sensing equipment in America isn't worth a damn.

"We must have had half a million dollars worth of equipment stacked around that old radio. But our stuff didn't pick up a thing, no sound, no static, no nothing.

"And yet, here was this broken down Philco blaring away — I should say Walter Winchell blaring away, about movie stars and conditions in pre-war Europe and the Great Depression."

The set was discovered by two boys playing in the family attic. Their mother agreed to talk about the find only if their

What makes a marriage tick?

By SUSAN JIMISON

Opposites attract, right? Wrong.

The best combination in a relationship is a blending of two similar people, according to top psychologists.

"There's no doubt that likeness leads to love," said Dr. George Levinger, a psychologist at the University of Massachusetts. "There are several kinds of processes going on, several things that interact. These add up to an attraction that binds two people together.

"They share a point of view, a similarity of feelings. People should be similar in many ways, or difficulties arise."

According to Dr. Levinger, people are most likely to marry someone who is similar to them in almost every way. For example, a tall man who is outgoing and sympathetic will wind up with a mate who is also a tall, warmhearted extrovert.

The similarities are there from the beginning, according to Dr. David Buss, a psychologist from Harvard, who published an article on the subject. But couples don't grow more alike through the years.

"Statistical analysis showed that older couples tended to be less, rather than more, similar to each other," he said, "suggesting that spouses do not converge during marriage."

Similarity between potential mates is important for a number of reasons. Similar people tend to be in the same place at the same time.

People who meet each other at concerts will have something to talk about from the outset.

Similarities of location or residence play an important part in meeting the one you'll marry.

College students are living with hundreds of other college students who are very like them and have much to share.

People who agree on basic issues are more likely to continue a relationship and allow it to develop into love. And people who like similar activities have to compromise less when planning things to do together.

"Obviously it would be a very dull world if everybody was totally alike, like robots," said Dr. Levinger.

"But similarity is much more functional than complementarity — if you have people pulling in opposite directions, that's a competition, not a relationship." The best relationships seem to have two people who are striving after common goals and interests rather than going off in opposite, and possibly conflicting, directions.

What men and women look for in a mate

Men and women demand the same things in potential mates, said Dr. David Buss of Harvard. In a list of 13 characteristics, both sexes list "kindness and understanding" as most important and "religious orientation" least important.

"But females more than males prefer good earning capacity as a characteristic in a mate, and males more than females prefer physical attractiveness in a potential mate, although neither sex places those at the top of the list," he said.

Here is Dr. Buss' ranking of the most commonly sought characteristics among courting men and women:

Rank	Characteristics preferred by males	Characteristics preferred by females
1	Kindness & understanding	Kindness & understanding
2	Intelligence	Intelligence
3	Physical attractiveness	Exciting personality
4	Exciting personality	Good health
5	Good health	Adaptability
6	Adaptability	Physical attractiveness
7	Creativity	Creativity
8	Desire for children	Good earning capacity
9	College graduate	College graduate
10	Good heredity	Desire for children
11	Good earning capacity	Good heredity
12	Good housekeeper	Good housekeeper

Truck idles 9 days — with dead driver inside!

By DICK DONOVAN

The decomposing body of a missing trucker was found when someone finally wondered why a semi-tractor rig was parked outside a McDonald's drive-in with the engine running — for nine straight days!

The trucker, 55-year-old father of four Lester Peters, suffered a fatal heart attack shortly after he parked his rig in a Toledo, Ohio, McDonald's parking lot around the truck," said Lucas County coroner's investigator Joseph Inman. "You would think someone would notice a truck in the parking lot with the engine running."

parked there around the clock for nine days with its engine idling. Yet no one bothered to find out why it was there.

The 200-gallon gas tanks would have allowed the truck to idle for two weeks, police

The grisly discovery of Lester's body ended a frantic search by his wife Janice, her father and four brothers that began when he failed to deliver a load of steel to a firm in Il-happened that prevented him from calling home, tracked the missing trucker's route all the way back to Toledo, leaving posters with his picture at truck stops and rest areas along the way.

Then word finally came that Lester was dead. It seems someone finally wondered why his truck had been parked in the drive-in lot with the engine

Peters and brought her happy world tumbling down. When Lester died, a dream they had shared for so many years died with him.

"We had planned that, after the truck was paid for in about 10 months, we'd open a small business together," the widow told The NEWS.

"It was a dream we shared for so long."

Need a laugh? Here's the quiz for you!

It's no joke — the things you laugh at tell a lot about your personality.

A person's sense of humor reveals important character traits and beliefs, according to Harvey Q. Mindess, a psychologist from Antioch West College in Anaheim, Calif.

By SUSAN JIMISON

Prof. Mindess has devised a simple humor test that can tell what personality type a person is by his favorite joke.

"The object of the test is not to say if you have a good or bad sense of humor, but to assess the type of humor you like and the role it plays in your personality," the psychologist explained.

Prof. Mindess divided jokes into these categories: Degrading to women, degrading to men, nonsense, philosophical, ethnic, sexual, toilet jokes, social satire, hostile and sick jokes.

Each category is preferred by particular personality types. Here are some sample jokes. Choose your favorite one and read below what your choice indicates about you.

1. Q. Why did the Lord make man before He created woman? A. Because He didn't want any advice on how to do it.

2. The trouble with political jokes is they often get elected.

3. A man falling from a cliff clutches at a root and, hanging in midair, casts his eyes to heaven and cries: "Is anyone out there?" A voice from the clouds answers, "Yes, my son. Let go and I will bear thee up." After a long pause, the man calls out: "Anyone else?"

4. Q. What does a grape say when you step on it? A. Nothing — it just whines a little.

5. Man to a woman, while pouring her a drink: "Say when." Woman: "Right after this drink."

6. A blind man with a guide dog enters a department store, picks up his dog by the tail and swings the animal over his head. A clerk hurries over and says: "May I help you, sir?"

The blind man replies: "No thanks, I am just looking around."

Now analyze your personality based on this humor self-test.

1. This joke is degrading to women. If you like it you are aloof and believe sex stereotypes are true.

2. If this was your favorite joke, you tend to be jealous, dogmatic, tyrannical and irritable. But you may also be an unconventional, imaginative person who is fascinated by ideas and theories. The joke is in the social satire category.

3. A philosophical joke. If it tickles your funnybone, you may have the healthiest sense of humor. You are impulsive, cheerful, expressive and alert.

4. A nonsense joke such as this pleases people who are self-assured, untroubled, placid, cheerful and resilient.

5. If you laughed at this sexual joke — which does not put down either sex — you probably are a person who can let your hair down.

6. A sick joke. People who laugh at this type of humor are usually impulsive, enthusiastic, cheerful, frank and expressive. Contrary to what you might expect, you're not sadistic if you like sick jokes.

Ex-wrestler goes on crash diet after his brother dies

World's heaviest twin loses 526 lbs.!

TODAY: Benny McCrary with his loving wife Tammy. "I know my brother's proud of me for what I've done here," says Benny.

He went from this

. . . to this

. . . because of this!

Benny McCrary, one of the world's heaviest twins, has shed more than a quarter-ton of lard — and now tips the scales at a mere 288 pounds! And it was the devastating death of his beloved brother that inspired the lifesaving diet.

Benny and his late brother Billy are listed in the 1988 Guinness Book of World Records as the heaviest twins in modern history with a combined weight of 1,500 pounds.

By DICK DONOVAN

The blubbery pair of blimps became famous when they toured as professional wrestlers and promotional men. But after Billy died following a motorcycle accident in 1979, being a celebrity no longer seemed to matter to his grieving twin.

"When Billy passed away, the magic went out of it," Benny explained.

Billy's body was buried in the graveyard of Crabcreek Baptist Church just a few miles from Hendersonville, N.C., where he and Benny were born.

The inscription on his granite monument reads:

"A big man with a big heart, loved around the world, with a legend as big as the mountains around him."

But while life ended for Billy, it went on for Benny. And thanks to his endless spunk and determination — and the love and support of his slim-trim wife Tammy, he's turned his life around 180 degrees.

For one thing, in 1985 he wrote an exercise book aimed at only floor-shuddering fatties. The Benny McCrary Exercise Book was published by Adams-Westmoreland Co. in Martinsville, Va., and sold for $9.95 a copy.

He also enlisted the aid of a doctor and a good dietician who helped him drop his daily mere shadow of his once-awesome bulk. He has dropped 526 pounds from a lifetime high of 814 pounds to a healthier 288 pounds.

The only reminder of his past bulk is the skin sagging from his shrunken body. He'd have that surgically removed if he wanted to foot the $15,000 bill to do the job.

Benny now runs an auction business in Arden, about 20 miles north of Hendersonville. From time to time, he's recognized by folks who remember him from his touring days with Billy and they marvel at his slimmer look.

"I believe I was left on Earth to be an example to the big people and to help them lose weight," Benny said. "I tell them not to give up, that if they want to lose weight they need to find a doctor and a dietician to work with."

PORCUPINE MAN DIES!

A man accidentally shot and killed himself when he tried to club a porcupine to death with a loaded shotgun!

Police in Namibia, Southwest Africa, said the man ran over the animal and was trying to put it out of its misery when the gun went off, shooting him

Help us to prove the power of Fatima. Promise to testify after you receive a "Miracle" of THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS and we will rush to you the extraordinary, miraculous*

FATIMA MEDAL

Notice to Readers who want thousands of dollars now:

For the first time in history you may benefit from the Miracle of Fatima WITHOUT making a "pilgrimage".

And I DO mean BENEFIT!

The Miracle of Fatima has taken the world by storm.

OUR LADY of Fatima began making miracles happen in 1917. That's when prayers of children in need were answered and 70,000 onlookers all saw the "sky" move—AT THE SAME TIME!

It's no wonder that today, Miracle-seeking poor people flock to Fatima morning, noon and night.

And with good reason. These individuals come to the Hallowed Grounds of Fatima for a personal Miracle that will change their lives and bring them happiness forever.

The deaf want to hear. The blind want to see. The crippled want to walk. The sickly want good health. The miserable want comfort. The lonely ache for love.

And countless poor people from all over the world come to Fatima so they can reap Miracles of thousands upon thousands of dollars.

And frankly, I've never heard of anyone—man, woman or child—coming away disillusioned from Fatima.

AT THE HOLY GROUNDS OF FATIMA A PERSON MAY BE EXPECTED TO SUDDENLY— MIRACULOUSLY— FIND "THE IMPOSSIBLE DREAM" AND START A NEW LIFE ENRICHED WITH WONDERFUL HEALTH, WEALTH, JOY AND HAPPINESS.

Imagine everything you ever desired instantly coming true . . .

So impressive are the talked-about powers of OUR LADY of Fatima that the POPE himself (Paul VI) came to Fatima. And joining Him were no less than ONE MILLION BELIEVERS!

Until now, Fatima, Portugal, was DEFINITELY a place to run to if you needed a Miracle . . .

BUT NOW, IF YOU CAN'T GO TO FATIMA HERE'S GOOD NEWS!

At this moment I have the original Fatima Medal—containing the HALLOWED EARTH OF FATIMA—ready to be sent to you at once. This pictorial Holy Medal magically shows the Fatima Miracle of OUR LADY AND IT CAN RELEASE ITS HOLY POWERS TO YOU.

Once you take possession of your Fatima Medal, here's the "Miracle Report" I expect to receive from you:

- "The Fatima Medal has ended my money problems once and for all! Rather than owing money, I've got so much I'm able to lend dollars to my friends."
- "Thanks to the Fatima Medal, I've been blessed with all the things I've always wanted: a luxurious new home; a beautiful, shiny new car; even my own private airplane."
- "I've found the joys of love and happiness from my wonderful, generous sweetheart (whom I just met!)."
- "Thanks to the Miraculous Fatima Medal, I have incredible good luck. I win at numbers and I win at bingo and I win at the racetrack. Yes, every time I make a bet, I win."
- "As soon as I received the Fatima Medal, my boss gave me a big raise. And then he gave me an extra four weeks vacation with pay."
- "Ever since you sent me the Fatima Medal, I have lots and lots of cash. In fact, I can buy just about anything I want."
- "It's truly amazing. Now that I have the Fatima Medal, my children have stopped taking drugs. They're happy again—for the first time in years."
- "The way my life has suddenly changed for the better, it's a Miracle! I am now happier, healthier, and wealthier than I ever imagined possible!"

THIS IS NOT A MISPRINT

We certify that this medal contains: 1) Earth taken directly from the Miraculous Hallowed Grounds of OUR LADY of Fatima, Portugal, and 2) a sacred relic of OUR LADY of Fatima in Her first Miracle-Making act in 1917 witnessed by 70,000 people.

HERE'S HOW YOU MUST TESTIFY:

1. Simply let me know the moment you are blessed with the wonderful Miracle you want — and have thousands upon thousands of dollars.

3. A copy of the Good Works Book with your miracle in it will be made available to you.

The answer is Yes!

I sincerely expect that a Miracle will happen to you when you take possession of the Fatima Medal. Because it will contain in its Precious Capsule "Holy Earth" taken from Fatima's Hallowed Grounds.

What you get is not a "symbol" of this Miracle spot—but an actual piece of Miracle-Making Fatima itself.

In other words, I'm bringing Fatima to you.

But remember, you have an obligation to me as soon as one or more Miracles begin to happen for you. You must drop me a note to let me know about these events. (About how rich you become . . . or how you find total happiness.) And you must allow me to publicize your Miracles in "The Good Works Book". (This book refers strictly to people testifying to their good luck from the sacred Fatima Medal.

I'm delighted to serve you as a "Bearer of Miracles" from the Hallowed Earth of Fatima. But don't forget—it's not all "onesided". You must help me in my work.

Right now, I have only a very limited amount of Fatima Medals. Each one has sealed into it Earth from the Miraculous Grounds of OUR LADY of Fatima in Portugal. My macho trucker is slipping through my double clutches

Dear Dotti: I am a 19-year-old woman with a 3-year-old son. I am engaged to a 24-year-old man. The problem is that he's a truck driver and he sleeps with other women. I went five weeks without sex and I only saw him once in that time. That was for about 20 minutes.

I love this man too much to break up with him.

I have had plenty of offers to sleep with other men but I can't. I'm too much in love with him. We have talked about him and his cheating but all he says is: "I'm crazy and I can't help it."

When we first got together he was home every night because the only trips he took were in Oregon, where we live, and Washington. Now he goes to California where he stays for a week and then, maybe, he comes home.

Do you happen to have any advice for someone in my shoes? — Thanks, Portland, Oreg.

Dear Thanks: If he thinks HE'S crazy, he ought to take a good look at you. Tell good buddy to hit the road — and stay there.

Don Knotts has me in the doghouse

Dear Dotti: My girlfriend is making me write to you because I'm obsessed with Don Knotts. I've seen all his movies over and over again and I watch reruns of Three's Company and the Andy Griffith Show, programs he starred in, at least six times a day.

You probably know that he played Deputy Barney Fife on Andy Griffith and I know every Barney line in every episode. I even repeat a lot of them along with him when he's talking on the show. He's great in Three's Company, as Mr. Furley, too.

My girlfriend says she's going to leave me if I don't give up my crazy infatuation with Knotts. Tell me what to do, Dotti. I love my little lady — but I love Knotts, too. — Tied Up in Knotts

Dear Tied: You don't need a girlfriend — you need professional help. Anybody who watches Andy Griffith and Three's Company reruns six hours a day is sick.

My husband's a stinking drunk

Dear Dotti: My husband is fine during the week but on weekends he gets drunk and raises hell.

He wants sex but he is so drunk he can't do anything. He doesn't take a bath and he smells like a brewery. What can I do about him? — Booze Widow, Atlanta

Dear Booze Widow: Don't try to talk to him while he's drunk — but some Wednesday or Thursday advise him not to come home drinking with loving on his mind.

If he does, get lost and leave a six-pack in the bed for him to cuddle.

If he doesn't like coming home under your terms — let him sleep in the bar.

LSD won't really hurt me, will it?

Dear Dotti: I'm a 39-year-old man who let the 60s pass by without doing any of the things that the hippies did — things like free love, marijuana and LSD. To make a long story short, my 18-year-old daughter recently asked me if I wanted some LSD and I took it. It was great.

I could feel my mind expanding and I've taken the drug five times since. I have no intentions of stopping now. But I just wondered whether or not it could hurt me. — Sky High in Frisco

Dear Sky: Don't ask me, ask Timothy Leary. Better yet, trot down to the loony bin and ask half the wackos there.

Dotti will answer your letters — and tell it like it is. Just write to her, c/o Weekly World News, 600 South East Coast Ave., Lantana, Fla. 33462.

Confidential

Dear Stunk Out in West Virginia: Tell him to bathe first.

Dear Sad Guy in Alabama: Yes, there are implants for those, too.

Dear Grossed in California: Put a bag on her head.

Dear Wretch in Illinois: I don't care what your doctor says — it's supposed to tickle.

Dear Stunned in Nebraska: Just how did you get those carpet burns?

Dear Weasel in Georgia: Just because you tattle on him doesn't mean you're next in line.

Ask the Countess

Why does my old Chevy run so badly?

COUNTESS SOPHIA SABAK offers readers personal advice based on your horoscope. Write to Countess Sabak, Weekly World News, 600 S. East Coast Ave., Lantana, Fla., 33462. Include your birth date. The Countess' advice is free. Do not send money.

Dear Countess: My 1976 Chevrolet is giving me fits. It starts and runs fine most of the time. But occasionally the motor stops dead while I'm driving. I've taken the car to four mechanics and none of them can help. What's wrong with my car, Countess? I need it to get around. — Car Trouble in Kentucky

Dear Trouble: This is a most unusual request but I can help you. I see some sort of contaminant, possibly a gob of dirt, in your gas tank. Have your mechanic remove the tank and clean it out. Then your car will run fine.

Dear Countess: I never considered myself psychic but recently I've begun to feel like I can read minds. I fore they say it. I even know what strangers are thinking when I'm standing in the grocery line.

I guess I should feel fortunate, or at least feel like I have a gift.

people think scares me. It's even beginning to make my life dull because there's no mystery left when I'm dealing with other people.

Please help me, Countess. Is there any way I'll be like I with a regular mind? — Knows Too Much in Tennessee

Dear Knows: A psychic gift can also be a curse, as you are obviously finding out. But there is hope for you, yet. If you practice very hard you can learn to turn your mind-reading powers on and off. That way you can have the best of both worlds — the psychic and the normal.

Dear Countess: I'm bitterly disappointed and hope you can help. I've been interested in the occult for a long time but only recently decided to get serious about it. I bought a crystal ball and have tried and tried to get it to work. But I can't see the future — all I see Can you help? — Blank in Texas

Dear Blank: The power to see into the future lies within you, not the crystal ball. Work on yourself.

Master your own mind and psychic powers. Then your crystal ball will become a valuable tool.

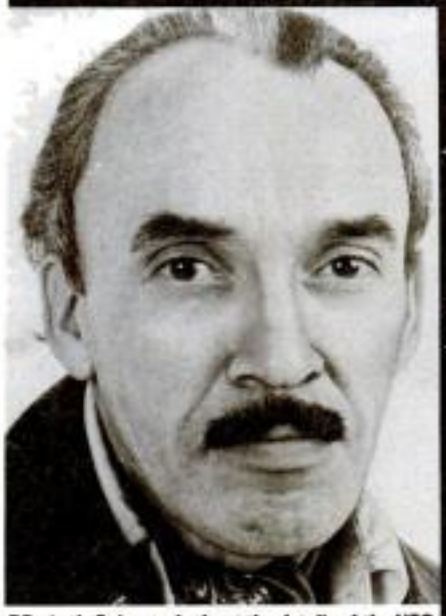
HELP BRING SPACE ALIE TO EARTH ON OCT. 2



DR. Andy Reiss worked out the details of the UFO experiment and he believes it will succeed.

By SUSAN JIMISON

In the most incredible experiment in mental telepathy ever, millions of Americans are being asked to join together to bring space aliens to Earth — during the Monday Night Football telecast on October 2!

UFO expert and psychic Dr. Andy Reiss is asking Americans to use the power of their minds to send a welcoming invitation to friendly aliens, setting a specific time and place for the landing.

And to make sure the event is witnessed by as many people as possible, the extraterrestrials will be asked to touch down during halftime before a vast television audience — and a packed stadium of fans who Dr. Reiss hopes will concentrate on calling the aliens down.

"It can be done — anything can be done with enough concentration," said Dr. Reiss, whose offices are in Los Angeles.

"And because nighttime is usually better for these kinds of contacts, I'm convinced we can get a response during a night football game.

"In the event the aliens can't get a starship to the game, they may send a sign. It could be anything unusual — a strange light, a radio or television glitch message or even an abrupt change in the weather," he said.

"We won't know until Monday night, October 2. The aliens could send psychic messages directly to fans in the stadium or appear in the form of exotic-looking insects. Who knows?"

Synchronization Chart

It is vital that the psychic energies of everyone coincide at precisely the same moment. To be sure you're in step with all other Americans when you begin concentrating, check for your time zone on the chart below. The time given is the exact time on September 29 you must send your psychic message!

Eastern Time: 9:00 p.m.
Central Time: 8:00 p.m.
Mountain Time: 7:00 p.m.
Pacific Time: 6:00 p.m.
Alaska/Hawaii Time: 4:00 p.m.

All times are in Daylight Saving Time

Landing site would be Chic Soldier Field during natio televised Monday Night Fo

ber 2 game between the Philadelphia Eagles and the Chicago Bears as the ideal setting for a space alien landing.

Dr. Reiss urges everyone to join the effort to call down the extraterrestrials by sending a psychic message three days before at Chicago's Soldier Field just after the end of the second quarter. "Friday, September 29, will be ideal because astronomers expect only a small number of solar flares on that date," Dr. Reiss said. "And I have chosen 9 o'clock in the evening, Eastern Daylight Saving Time, because senders will be alert and relaxed at the end of the day.

"To help send the message, you should check the chart on this page and find out exactly when people in your time zone should join the telepathy experiment."

Dr. Reiss recommends adopting mind before the message is sent. "Sit quietly alone and open yourself to your higher processes," said Dr. Reiss.

"At the appointed time focus all your mental energies on the following message: 'Come to us. We welcome you. We await you in Soldier Field at halftime. We await you in Chicago. Please come.'

"Repeat the message 10 times, visualizing it speeding through space to its destination. Stay relaxed and positive."

It is important to follow directions precisely, Dr. Reiss said, so that the energies of everyone will exact time. tune in to th and see if t tion effort h

7 days of unmatched devastation scientists call . . .

MAP indicates the wide range of death and destruction that occurred in seven days. Earthquakes, volcanoes, typhoons, monsoons and even an eel attack were just some of the nightmarish events that rocked the Earth. RIGHT, a six-lane highway is sliced in half by a massive quake.

DOOMSDAY WEEK

By MICKEY McGUIRE

A sudden and unexplainable outbreak of natural disasters is cutting a wide swath of death and destruction on Earth — and some experts fear it may be the beginning of the end of our planet!

In a one week period alone, more than 18 major disasters — earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, monsoon floods, hurricanes and fires — have ravaged cities and villages throughout the world.

In addition, rogue elephants in India and ferocious moray eels in Hong Kong have made bizarre and savage attacks on humans which, one scientist believes, may have been triggered by the world's "mutating climate."

The following is a partial compilation of worldwide disasters which struck during a seven-day period in late July. It reads like a nightmarish diary of death:

● An earthquake measuring six on the Richter scale killed more than 240 people on the Indonesian island of Alor, crumbled hundreds of buildings and homes, leaving thousands homeless.

● Several other quakes were recorded in Sichuan province, China. At least 80 people were killed and several hundred others seriously injured. Thousands of others were left without food, water or shelter.

● Typhoon Gordon, with winds roaring in at more than 128 miles per hour, thundered across the northern Philippines island of Luzon, killing at least 32 people. The New China News Agency said the typhoon left scores dead in southern China.

● Monsoon rains and floods reportedly killed several hundred people in Bangladesh and the eastern Indian state of Assam. Forty-four of the victims in India were killed when two buses were swept away by floodwaters. The Indian Army is still trying to rescue hundreds of thousands of victims left stranded by floodwaters.

TOWERING plume of smoke and ash pours out of Mount Aso in Japan.

● In Brazil, at least 33 people were killed during 10 days of heavy rains and flooding that left almost a half-million people homeless. In Uniao dos Palmares, 10,000 people are living in tents pitched amid the rubble of the city.

● Mount Aso on the Japanese island of Kyushu was the second volcano to erupt in Japan in four days.

● In the eastern Indian state of Bihar, at least 139 people were killed when a herd of starving elephants trampled dozens of villages, destroyed farm crops and demolished storage barns looking for food.

● In Hong Kong, bizarre weather changes have driven thousands of normally docile moray eels into a savage frenzy, forcing officials to close all the public beaches. More than 60 people were horribly maimed in the attacks.

● Earthquake tremors were also recorded in Alaska and the Aegean islands and forest fires raged out of control in Portugal and Canada.

"It was a disasterous week," declared French environmental scientist Michael Pillet. "We are destroying the ozone layer with pollution. The oceans are being fouled and nuclear devices are rupturing the Earth's surface.

"We believe there is a direct relationship between all that abuse and this sudden outbreak of disasters."

Suds from spuds

A brewery in Stevens Point, Wis., is hopping onto the potato bandwagon — by brewing suds made from spuds!

"Making beer from potato starch is something we've thought about doing for a long time," says Kenneth Shibilski, the brewery's president.

HANKY panky

A leading Irish doctor is trying to identify the cause of post-coital drip, a condition that causes a person's nose to run after sex!

"Having to reach for tissues at such a time is disruptive," Dr. Charles Stanford, of the Royal Victoria Hospital in Belfast, told reporters.

PETER McKenzie

Evil sex wizard

. . . snared 13 schoolgirls into a sinister web of seduction!

The smiling man in this picture may seem an ordinary person, but he has been branded the most evil man alive for seducing 13 helpless young girls!

Peter McKenzie, 38, convinced children from 6 to their early teens that he was a wizard who could give them magic powers. For three years he dominated a bizarre kiddie sex cult in Kendale, England, warning the little girls they would die if they ever told on him.

"He's the most evil man anywhere and should never be released," said a relative of one of the young victims after McKenzie admitted his guilt and was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

"I hope you rot in jail," screamed another as the child molester was led away.

According to court transcripts, McKenzie began his wicked wizardry three years ago when he recruited a 7-year-old girl to join his "magic circle." He told the child he could make her a witch, gave her a wand and taught her prayers to the god of lechery and debauchery, Asmedeus.

After making the child swear to secrecy, he had sex with her, authorities say. Then he used the little girl as his lieutenant to recruit her friends for him.

McKenzie convinced the trusting little ones that there were five stages to becoming a witch, and the first involved having sex with him. He told the children that his semen was magic and they would have good luck and special powers once it was inside them.

The sicko sex fiend was finally exposed when one little girl told her mother, "I've got a secret." The mother called police, who arrested McKenzie and eventually charged him with four offenses of rape, four offenses of attempted rape, 12 offenses of indecent assault and four offenses of unlawful sexual intercourse.

"No one sitting in this court could be other than totally horrified and nauseated by your conduct," said angry judge Kenneth Machin as he sentenced McKenzie to 15 years in prison. "You abused 13 young girls. It's done incalculable damage to the emotional development of several of the children. Yours are quite frightening and terrifying offenses."

Mermaid mummy found on beach!

3,000-year-old relic stuns the scientific world

A team of awestruck Soviet scientists is desperately trying to determine the origin of the most amazing archeological discovery of all time — the mummified remains of a 3,000-year-old mermaid!

A construction crew found the incredible creature in a treasure-laden tomb near the shore of the Black Sea outside the resort city of Sochi.

Scientists quickly dubbed the ancient lady Katerina.

Word of the discovery was leaked to the West by Dr. A.N. Yerimia, a prominent Russian archeologist who defected to Austria last month.

"Medical illustrators have completed drawings — reconstructions — of the way Katerina looked in life thousands of years ago and the results are astounding," Yerimia said.

"She looked like a beautiful, dark-skinned princess — with the tail of a fish.

"This thing has sent shock waves through the scientific community because everybody knows mermaids aren't supposed to exist.

"And suddenly we have quite clear proof that they did exist just as the legends say they did," he said.

"Judging by the treasures buried with her, they have concluded that she was a revered member of her society and was most likely considered a queen or goddess."

Scientists say the amazing creature measured 5 feet 9 inches from the top of her head to the tip of her broad, scaly tail.

They believe Katerina was more than 100 years old when she died.

Sweethearts go to Disney World — to commit suicide!

CHRIS Reutter and Jerry Heitzman could not bear to separate.

By JACK ALEXANDER

Two love-struck teens who couldn't bear to be apart leaped to their deaths from a 14th-floor balcony at Disney World — so they could be together in eternity.

Witnesses said Jerry Heitzman, 17, and Chris Reutter, 18, clasped hands and jumped. Both died instantly of fractured skulls and multiple injuries, said authorities in Orlando, Fla.

A suicide note written by Chris to her mother, Adele Reutter, explained why the teens did it.

"Throughout the first week we met I realized how much I loved Jerry. Yes, it is true love. He is the best thing that ever happened to me. Now we will be together in eternity," Chris wrote.

Jerry would have been a sophomore at Tipp City, Ohio, High School. Chris graduated from Fairmont High School in nearby Kettering, Ohio, in June.

"They had met about two months ago and were madly in love," said Orange County sheriff's spokesman Denise Gainer. "She was signed up to enter the Air Force in November. Apparently, they couldn't stand being apart."

Chris was described by a friend, Andrea Carter of Kettering, as a "very emotional girl who would do anything for you."

Police in Kettering verified that Chris had attempted suicide by overdosing on pills two years ago. A friend tipped off cops, who got to her in time.

No one knows whether the lovesick teens planned to kill themselves when they left Ohio in Jerry's pickup and checked into Walt Disney Village three days before their deaths.

Neither one told their parents they were leaving.

"Jerry's father reported his son missing, but Chris' mother was on vacation when she left," said Officer Gainer.

After three days together at the famed Florida attraction, the despondent teens stepped out on the balcony and ended their young lives.

"Since they couldn't be together in life, they wanted to spend eternity together," said Officer Gainer.

A magnetic smile

Magnets may soon be used to keep your false teeth from falling out.

The magnets can be implanted in dentures and remaining teeth. And they're more comfortable, says Dr. Asha Samant of the University of New Jersey Dental School.

Magnets can be used if a patient has just two good teeth left. They cost 30 to 40 percent less than conventional dentures and are less bulky.

They also prevent bone shrinkage that could cause further tooth loss.

The world's thinnest anorexic will marry wealthy businessman

HUMAN TOOTHPICK TO WED!

By BEATRICE DEXTER

The world's thinnest anorexic — "human toothpick" Iraildes Santos — is planning to get married!

The bony bride-to-be, who tips the scales at a mere 53 pounds, has fallen in love with businessman Francisco Alves of Sao Paolo, Brazil, and they've set the wedding date for October 7.

"I didn't think it would ever happen to me," said Iraildes, 36, when she announced the happy event in a local newspaper. "But when I met Francisco, my whole life changed.

"Now, instead of trying to lose weight like most brides do, I'm trying to gain weight. I want to be at least five pounds heavier on my wedding day."

Iraildes has been in the news since 1976 when doctors at her hometown hospital in Guiratinga made her bizarre eating problem public. The 5-foot-3 woman used to weigh 150 pounds before she stopped eating normally.

Doctors — who at one point failed in an attempt to force feed her — predicted she would die of malnutrition if she continued her suicidal fast. But until Alves came into her life, the skinny spinster actually felt she needed to lose more weight!

WEALTHY salesman Francisco Alves fell in love with Iraildes after reading about her plight.

"I thought my hips were too wide," she recalled. "I felt fat no matter how thin I got. But now all that has changed. I feel like I've awakened from a nightmare."

The change was brought about by Alves, 48, a widower whose own daughter died of anorexia. The wealthy sporting goods salesman read of Iraildes' seemingly hopeless plight and went to see her.

Convinced he could help her, Alves took the human scarecrow to the movies and on drives in the country and tried to renew her interest in life. Incredibly, he found himself falling in love with Iraildes — and she soon realized she was in love with him, too.

"Ever since I met Francisco, I have felt my appetite increasing. I know I'm on the road to health again and I'm looking forward to being a normal curvy woman for the man I love," said Iraildes.

Doctors say Iraildes' happiness over her wedding plans may be just what she needs to get her appetite back and start eating a normal diet again.

Partying mom seduced daughter's pals, say cops

Good time mama Gloria Hart liked partying with her teenage daughter's friends. She bought their booze, mixed their drinks and even had sex with them, say cops.

The 29-year-old mother of three may have partied down with as many as 21 kids, ranging in age from 11 to 16, said Telfair County (Ga.) Sheriff Ronnie Walker. Two 13-year-old boys said they had sex with Mrs. Hart at one of her schoolnight bashes, said Sheriff Walker.

"They said they were in the kitchen when she took off her clothes and propositioned them," the sheriff told The NEWS.

A 15-year-old boy told deputies Mrs. Hart served him vodka and orange juice until he got sick and passed out.

"Then she had sex with him while the boy's brother and her 13-year-old daughter watched," said Sheriff Walker.

During one sexual tryst with a teenager, the boy's mother drove up, so Mrs. Hart wrapped a towel around herself and went into a bedroom, said Sheriff Walker.

"Each kid we talked to tells the same story," he said. "If they arrived at her house for a party and didn't have liquor, she would take them to a liquor store and buy it for them." The alleged parties were over when the parent of one of the kids went to the County Department of Family and Children's Services, who contacted police.

Mrs. Hart was charged with having sex with the two 13-year-old boys and with providing alcoholic beverages to minors. She could face additional charges involving up to 21 juveniles, said Sheriff Walker.

National Institute of Weight Control Approves Primary (Weight-Loss) Pill for Immediate U.S. Distribution.

Institute Doctors pleased at how quickly people lose weight.

NEW YORK, NY (for special release)—For the first time in its history, the National Institute of Weight Control is advising people who want to lose weight to use a special weight-loss pill called the Primary Pill. This pill, developed by a group of weight-control doctors, has been instrumental in causing hundreds of patients to quickly lose weight.

This pill plan provides what these experts consider a "Fat Evaporation" effect. For this reason, they are calling this weight-loss pill plan automatic.

Produces Rapid Losses of Weight

Initially, this pill was designed to enable diet-resistant patients (especially addictive eaters of sweets and rich foods) to lose weight without any harmful side effects. However, findings indicate all kinds of people can safely use Primary Pill System to lose up to 75 pounds very fast.

How "Evaporation" Effect Works

The former director of a major university weight control center described this phenomenon of the Primary Pill System: "It causes fat to be steadily removed from the stomach, hips, legs, thighs, buttocks, waistline

Doctors found that the Primary Pill plan—even when taken with three filling meals every day, plus snacks and desserts (the kind that satisfies the person with a "sweet tooth")—proved totally successful: Patients who needed to lose a lot of weight succeeded, without any difficulty. (They did not have to follow any special exercising nor subject themselves to any discomfort nor any negative experiences.)

Released to the Public

If you are trying to lose 20 to 75 pounds or more, the Primary Pill will be directly supplied to you by the Institute as a service. You will also be provided with a Free Personal Nutritional Analysis (normally costing $50.00-$75.00).

Send just $32 for a full 30-day supply, or just $54 for a full 60-day supply (make check or money order payable to "NIWC"). Mail it to this address: National Institute of Weight Control, Dept. WC160, 380 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY 10018. If you have a MasterCard or Visa, you can call 1-800-444-5881 toll-free and ask for Norma. *Unconditional money-back guarantee if not satisfied. Buried goldfish comes back from the dead!

HAPPY owner Fergal Parkinson shows off his never-say-die pet goldfish Sammy.

A teenager who buried his dead goldfish was stunned when the plucky pet came back to life and squirmed out of his garden grave!

"I couldn't believe it when he wriggled out of the ground where I had buried him," said Fergal Parkinson, 19, of Sheffield, England. "I had to look twice before I could believe my eyes. He had been out of the water for at least 40 minutes, and goodness knows how long he had been floating on the surface of his bowl before I discovered him. He is a very tough little fish."

When 9-month old Sammy was found floating in his fishbowl, Fergal put him in an envelope and buried him under two inches of soil to spare his young sisters the sad sight.

Later, as he passed the grave, Fergal noticed something moving beneath the soil. Sammy's head appeared, followed by his body. Flabbergasted Fergal put the gutsy goldfish back in his bowl.

After spitting out some dirt, Sammy began swimming around as good as new!

South Yorkshire veterinarian Dr. Mark Hallam later examined spunky Sammy and pronounced him fit as a fiddle. "It is quite exceptional, and there is no obvious explanation," he said. "For a fish to survive out of water for as long as this one did does seem to be a remarkable thing."

ZOE WAS A PRETTY GIRL UNTIL . . .

Drugs began turning me into a man!

By SUSAN JIMISON

Bodybuilding blonde Zoe Warwick was a female champion in her sport — until drugs began turning her into a man!

Now the petite Plymouth, England, woman is off steroids. And in an article first appearing in The Sun, a London newspaper, she warned other women that drugs can give females a beard, a deep voice and other male characteristics.

"Between 1985 and 1986 I was the United Kingdom's women's bodybuilding champion — the very best in Britain," said Zoe, 28.

"But within a year my health was in ruins and my mind was a mess. Everything I'd worked for was wrecked, thanks to steroids.

"These muscle growth drugs had a devastating effect on my body. I started to turn into a man."

Zoe soared to the top on bodybuilding circuits with a mixture of determination and hard work.

After she became champ, she began to fear she might lose her place at the top — and steroids looked like a good way to keep her title. But although the drugs built up her muscles, they destroyed her health — and turned her into more of a muscle-bound, masculine guy than the pretty gal she once was.

"My periods stopped and my breasts almost disappeared," Zoe recalled. "My jaw muscles enlarged and I began growing hair on my chin. Worse still, I developed an Adam's apple and my voice dropped so deep I sounded like a man. I began to be mistaken for a man. I was even approached by flirtatious women who thought I was a man."

Finally, Zoe realized she was either going to lose her title or her femininity would be gone for good. So she decided to stop taking steroids forever. But she's sympathetic with other women who are now trapped into using the drugs.

"Athletes aren't like ordinary people," she said. "They are intensely competitive and totally single-minded about winning. But no one should lose their health for their sport. That's what I eventually realized."

ZOE WARWICK took steroids during bodybuilding program.

★ Get away from the noise and traffic of the big city?
★ Discover a peaceful life, with fresh air and no crime?
★ Spend up to 50% less on food and housing?

Sound unbelievable? It's true! Only $300 per month will provide you with the kind of lifestyle you may have dreamed about—but have so far not discovered.

Most people have no idea that even a modest retirement income like $300 can provide the kind of life that we describe. But many people who grew tired of traffic jams, air pollution, and noise have discovered that an alternative does exist—and that life in the country is far better than city life is cracked up to be.

STARTING FRESH will shed light on the transition from big city to country life. Written by authors who themselves have successfully made this transition, Starting Fresh is full of incredible insights which bring country living very much within reach.

Consider real estate for example. Where the average home in the United States costs over $250,000 dollars, the purchase price of a lovely retirement home (of equal size) in the country may cost one fourth of that! Food prices are less. Utilities costs are less. Insurance premiums are lower. These are just a few of the many reasons why country living offers much more than just peace of mind!

Why suffer with noise, air pollution, traffic jams and high crime rates when a simpler life in the country offers you so much more!

Unborn baby is 23 pounds . . . and growing

Mom pregnant for two years!

By BETTY SHROCK

The pregnant wife of a South African auto salesman has been carrying her unborn child for two years!

And doctors say when the baby is born it will weigh at least 23 pounds and will have the physical and mental maturity of a 2-year-old child.

"This is the most extraordinary case," said government health official, Maurice Shipley.

"The term of her pregnancy is unprecedented in modern medical history.

"There have been many widely reported claims of up to 410 days, but those are unsubstantiated and insignificant in comparison to this fully documented and authenticated case."

The 29-year-old woman has already given birth to two children since her marriage at the age of 23. She had been taking contraceptive pills for 16 months prior to her latest pregnancy.

"She is currently being examined and tested by a team of prenatal experts from Africa and also from Europe," Shipley said.

"And a fertility researcher is analyzing fluids taken from the fetal sac in the hope of finding data that will provide help for childless couples."

The official said the unborn infant's weight is constantly monitored and was last estimated at an incredible 23 pounds.

"And that weight increases with every passing day," the official said.

"Of course, there is no way on earth that the woman could have her child by a natural delivery. That has been ruled out as totally unthinkable.

"A special team of highly skilled obstetricians are on constant alert.

"The woman will be allowed to go into labor. But then the baby will be delivered by cesarean section."

He said that sound-wave pictures of the baby indicate that it will have, at birth, all of the physical growth and development of a 2-year-old child. "This will not be a baby in the true sense of the word.

"This will be a mature child with a full head of hair and the teeth one would expect to find on a normal child of that age," Shipley explained. "At present, her doctors say that the mother is in excellent health.

"The baby is also in fine condition and growing more robust and active every day. There is no reason why the baby should not survive."

Shipley said the mother's doctors refuse to speculate on when the amazing baby will be born, but they indicated that it could come "at any time" in the next two to three weeks.

History-making child will be mature 2-year-old at birth

THIS unidentified South African woman has been carrying a baby for a mind-boggling two years!

Here's how gals can find Mr. Wonderful

Gals can meet and marry a dream hubby fast with sensational new tips from the experts.

The key to success is flexibility. Too many gals lose at love simply because they're set in their ways and closed minded.

The following guide from Complete Woman magazine will help determine whether you are your own worst enemy in love.

If you're really in the market for a mate, it's all but guaranteed to help you find one.

● Assertiveness. Don't be afraid to approach attractive men. Be friendly and casual. Your romantic fate doesn't hinge on any single encounter. You're just trying to find out if they're interesting.

● Attitude is the most important factor in determining how successful you'll be in finding Mr. Right. Really look for, acknowledge and appreciate positive qualities in the men you meet.

Don't let their negative aspects stop you from getting to know them better.

● Availability. It's easy to find out if a man is available. But you may not be, even if you think you are!

If you regularly date unmarriageable men, dismiss them as not being right for you. If you refuse to overcome shyness or lose weight, you're not as serious about marriage as you could be.

● Accessibility. You can't stay home every night and expect great guys to come knocking at your door.

Go where eligible men go. Make yourself noticed. Be accessible.

● Be affectionate, caring and warm around the men you like. Don't put on airs to impress them.

● Assess the character of men with your head and heart. Observe their behavior, look below the surface, ask questions — and think!

Man sues for pal's dead body

Gerard Soules wants his dead buddy's body dug up and reburied in a Michigan cemetery next to his gravesite — so they can be together when he dies.

Soules and James Schumaker spent 16 years putting on dog shows at circuses and ice shows until Schumaker died in 1982.

Schumaker said he wanted to be buried beside Soules, but his parents buried him in Memphis.

Soules has gone to court to have his dead pal reburied in Livonia, Mich.

'My loss is their gain,' says wife who shed 176 pounds

I'm giving my skin to burn victims!

Dieter Ann Hudak wants someone else to gain by her weight loss — so she's donating her skin to a burn center.

The Franklin, N.J., woman tried for years to find a hospital that would accept her gift, but it was only when another skin donor — Chicago resident Dennis Genz — appeared in the news that Mrs. Hudak found a burn center that would take the donation.

By SUSAN JIMISON

"My loss is their gain," she said.

"Dennis and I are the only two people in the country who had donated their skin while they were still alive," said Mrs. Hudak, whose skin reduction surgery is scheduled to take place after she loses 85 more pounds. "But we're hoping this will get the word out that it's a great thing for dieters to do."

The brown-haired housewife used to weigh a whopping 386 pounds. But now that she's on a high-protein diet and an exercise program, she has pared off 176 pounds.

Since she started her weight-loss regimen in April 1988, she's gone from a waddling size 52 to a much trimmer size 40.

"I've lost so much weight, I knew I'd have to have an operation to take off my excess skin," said Mrs. Hudak, 41, who is already on lists to donate other organs when she dies. "But when I called around for places to donate my skin for use in skin grafts, they laughed at me. They said there wouldn't be enough skin to make it worthwhile.

"But when Dennis donated his skin, there was about 4 square feet taken off him — and he only lost 173 pounds."

When Mrs. Hudak has taken off the 260 pounds she plans to lose, she's going to go to college, she says. Until then, she's enjoying every day she's a pound or two lighter.

"Already, it's like I'm a whole new person," she said. "I feel like I can do anything. I was fat the first half of my life, and I'm going to be thin the second half. I'm so glad I've finally taken control of my life."

DIET queen Ann Hudak is going to go to college and is having a ball.

Gal loses her job for wearing big earrings!

KAREN Peake got the sack for wearing those earrings, but she got her job back.

Fashion plate Karen Peake was turned out on her ear by her boss — because her earrings were too big!

"I've got about 200 pairs, all shapes and sizes — birds, bees, you name it," said the lovely-lobed lady, a nurses' aide at an old folks' home.

"The residents always liked my earrings. I think the colorful designs brightened up their day. Then a new manager showed up and told me to wear studs instead."

But the order went in one of Karen's ears and out the other. "Every time she was spoken to her earrings just got bigger," huffed a spokesman for Butts Croft House in Warwickshire, England. When classy Karen, 25, showed up for work one day with two-inch parrots dangling from her lobes, her featherhead boss canned her.

The angry wife and mom took her case to arbitration and won her job back, along with $300.

Hubby Ron, 46, backed her all the way. "She would just not be the woman I love if she wasn't wearing her distinctive earrings," he said.

Lightning fries lazy loungers

Two men relaxing at a lake were zapped by lightning from a sudden storm.

"The were apparently lying out on metal lounge chairs, and so they were grounded with the metal," said Panola County (Miss.) Medical Examiner Clyde Cobb. "I don't know why they stayed out there because there was a pretty bad cloud coming up," he said.

Jeffrey L. Russell, 25, and James N. Mauney Jr., 29, died instantly.

WE'RE SHATTERED!

Foster parents sued by child they haven't seen for 22 years

Foster parents James and Margaret Hughes heard from one of the children they took in 22 years ago — when she slapped a giant lawsuit on them!

The foster child was just 2 years old when the Hugheses last saw her, but at the age of 24 she sued the couple, claiming they owe her damages because she was accidentally scalded under their care.

The middle-aged Wokingham, England, pair feared they'd have to sell their home to pay for legal expenses because of Kathleen Surtees' suit. But they won in the case before London's High Court.

"It was a frightening experience," said Hughes, a businessman. "We gave Katie a home and our love and now, after all these years, we had to fight this dreadful case."

After Kathleen was abandoned at birth by her 15-year-old mother, authorities placed her with the Hugheses. Later, it was decided that the child should be placed in a smaller family where she could get more attention, so Kathleen was removed from the couple's care.

Shortly before she left, the girl burned her foot when she stepped into a basin of hot water.

"It was a normal accident and was dealt with quickly and properly," said Hughes, 56. "My wife is a nurse and within 15 minutes Katie was treated by our local doctor. When Katie left us, we were told her foot was healing normally.

"We have found out now that she was taken into the hospital a few days after she left us for skin graft operations and a year later had two toes of her left foot amputated. We still don't understand what went wrong in those few days."

The Hugheses heard nothing more of Kathleen until they got a telephone call from an investigator last year and learned that their former foster child was suing over her injuries.

CALL FROM THE PAST left Margaret and James Hughes in shock.

Man Makes $2000 A Week From Two Typewritten Pages Of Paper!

Canton, OH (Special) Thirty six year old Samuel Lee turned his life around with just two typed pages of paper. Even more amazing, Sam didn't even own a typewriter!

He did it by applying the truth of the old saying: "If you have a problem and can find an answer - millions of other people have the same problem - and will pay you big money for that answer!"

The two typed pages deal with a problem concerning one out of three Americans today!

Lee says he discovered the amazing money-making power of the two typed pages while he was at the lowest point in his life. Bankrupt, unemployed, divorced, and with custody of his three children, Sam says he "HAD" to do something fast or "the wolf would surely beat down his door" - totally consuming him and his three small children.

Sam says the $2000 a week started coming in almost immediately. All he did was place a small $5 classified ad (which he had to run on credit) in his local "Pennysaver" paper.

$2000 a week was only the beginning. Lee showed us a bank statement listing $22,721.94 deposits in a recent week!! His income each week is now more than most people make in an entire year!

Sam says making $2000 a week from just two typed pages is easy and any man or woman can do it. He started from the dining room table in his small rented apartment.

Can anyone else duplicate Samuel Lee's success with the same two typed pages of paper? Apparently so! Sam showed us letters from a few of his friends with whom he has shared his secret. An ex-factory worker in Louisiana reports income of $242,476 last year using Sam's methods. Gary Laser of British Columbia, Canada tells us he made over $50,000 in a couple of months after Sam gave him the secret!

Sam has generously offered to send complete details of his money-making secret absolutely FREE to readers of this publication.

It's easy to find out how you can begin making big money fast and easy from the same two typed pages with which Sam started.

All you have to do is print your name and address on a plain sheet of paper and mail it to: Samuel Lee, 708 - 12th Street N.W., Dept. S351, Canton, OH 44703.

World's bravest ski board champ takes on the English Channel

HEROIC Kelvin Trevett's ski board cuts through the water. The armless and legless athlete is training for a daring assault on the English Channel.

No arms no legs . . . JUST GUTS!

By DICK DONOVAN

Plucky Kelvin Trevett has no arms or legs. But he's still going to attempt what even a he-man hunk wouldn't even dream of doing — cross the English Channel on a ski board!

The 34-year-old crippled daredevil will be wearing a special harness that will hold him securely to the board which will be towed over the Channel chop by a speedboat.

"A lot of people may think I'm crazy to try what they see as an impossible feat that could cost me my life," Kelvin said. "But I'm determined to prove that just because a person has a disability, it doesn't mean he's disabled.

"I have an amazing sense of balance and I've been training for months. I just don't feel there is any way I can fail. As far as I'm concerned there's no mountain too high for me to climb . . . even without arms and legs."

Kelvin, who lives alone in Bournemouth, England, was born with a congenital defect that left him without lower legs and feet and without arms. The athlete does have hands, but they are attached to his shoulders.

"There's no mountain too high for me to climb"

Despite his handicap, Kelvin cherishes above all else his independence. He uses a self-propelled electric wheelchair because, "I don't like people pushing me around," and drives a specially modified car. He has artificial limbs, but hasn't used them since he was a teen.

When Kelvin will make his heroic ski-board assault on the Channel has not yet been determined. "But rest assured," he said pointedly, "there's no way on earth I won't make it across the Channel. After all, I do have perfect balance."

A PERSONAL TRAINER helps Kelvin to get into his specially-designed harness.

Cancer fighting dipsticks

Inexpensive little dipsticks that change color when exposed to microscopic amounts of blood in urine may be useful in uncovering bladder and kidney cancer.

The dipsticks were helpful in finding eight cancers and seven other serious kidney or bladder disorders among 235 men, said Dr. Edward Messing of the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Messing said the urine test could be used to screen for cancers in men older than 50, who are at highest risk of urinary-tract

Nude model is cons' favorite — bar none!

Meet the 'Inmate Playmate of the Year'

By JACK ALEXANDER

Plastered on the barren walls of America's most dangerous prisons is a photo of nudie model Yvette Paris — the "Inmate Playmate of the Year."

"I just love those guys," said the attractive redhead, who is in the Stripper Hall of Fame in California and the Dallas Cowboys Fan Club Hall of Fame.

"They write such warm and sincere letters and I answer every one of them," the curvy model said.

"Those cons are so lonely and pathetic."

Her prison fan club began to build when her nude photos appeared in various girlie magazines.

Soon she was getting letters from killers and rapists in Levenworth, Attica and many other prisons.

"I got a letter from a convict who just wanted a pen pal . . . someone to listen to him," said Yvette.

"The poor guy was very bitter about life, but I think I helped him develop a better outlook on life."

The sultry stripper says people have "put her down" for writing letters to hardened criminals.

"These men will eventually be released from prison so I try to change their bitterness and anger toward society," said Yvette.

"I try to make them believe I care about them and that caring about yourself and others is a positive thing."

Yvette is honored to be the "Inmate Playmate of the Year," she said. "From the way the prisoners describe daily life in prison, I'm glad it's only my photos doing time and not me."

Mom & sis drop dead from shock when . . .

'CORPSE' CRAWLS OUT OF HIS GRAVE

They thought they were seeing a ghost!

By JOE BERGER

An unconscious oldster was buried alive by kinfolk who thought he'd been killed in an accident. But the next day, the dazed, bedraggled man crawled out of his grave — and scared his mom and sister so bad that they dropped dead!

The two terror-stricken women died of heart attacks when 70-year-old Muattak Zafer al-Shahrani, stumbled into his home in Aseer, Saudi Arabia — still wearing his burial shroud.

"They must have thought they were seeing a ghost, and it was just more than they could take," said investigator Ahmed Harasani.

"After all, they had just buried the man — and they certainly never expected to see him again."

The heartbreaking tale began when the hardworking farmer was clobbered by a spinning windmill vane while making repairs.

Frightened family members tried desperately to revive the cold-cocked oldster but failed. Assuming he was dead, they immediately held a funeral and buried him in a field — fortunately without having him embalmed.

MUATTAK Zafer al-Shahrani was only unconscious when he was buried.

The mystified man came to 27 hours later to the sound of sheep grazing above him. "It took me some time to realize where I was, and then I started shouting for help," Muattak told reporters.

"The shepherds came and got me out. They kept asking me what happened and I told them I really didn't know. I was lucky the box they buried me in was so large. I had plenty of air to breathe."

The dumbfounded fellow staggered half a mile to his home, where his mom Yasmina, 89, and his sister Habiba, 58, were fixing dinner.

"They saw me and immediately started shrieking," the grieving grandfather recalled. "They turned white and suddenly my mother collapsed dead.

"My sister started shrieking even louder, and then she fell dead, too.

"I didn't mean to frighten them, but I guess seeing a 'dead man' in their kitchen was too much for them to handle."

SOUP-ER WEAPON

A customer got into an argument with two store clerks and beat them on the head — with a can of soup.

The bizarre attack occurred at a Winnipeg, Canada, food mart and injured a 36-year-old man and a 34-year-old woman.

"The female was assaulted by being struck on the face and kicked to the floor," said Police Sgt. Don Peters.

An unidentified suspect was arrested. Police didn't identify the clerks.

GIANT HOROSCOPE

By Countess Sophia Sabak

ARIES
Mar. 21-Apr. 19

Lunar position indicates a tumultuous period. A love/hate relationship with someone close to you keeps your emotions in a spin.

After a shake-up at work, with a reassignment of hours, your financial picture may not appear stable. However, another position will soon be offered to you, providing the salary and challenges you've been seeking.

The weekend brings good times with family members, possibly with children or old folks.

TAURUS
Apr. 20-May 20

The weather has your allergies acting up, and you find that you're susceptible to colds. Stay as cheerful as you can.

Midweek, your life is less than serene, with you and your parents on opposite sides. A third party may be needed to act as arbitrator, so you can come to an agreement.

Later in the week the planets will steer a financial offer your way. Consider it carefully. It could change — and upgrade — your whole life. Don't turn this chance down.

GEMINI
May 21-June 20

At week's beginning, unorthodox advice from a friend helps you solve a difficult problem. Life is full of surprises!

Some Gemini may find that the pressure of their work, plus domestic demands, have drained energies to a new low.

The weekend hours offer a chance to get away from it all. Ask for your mate's cooperation, and for a change of pace, plan on eating all meals out for one day. Include a sumptuous breakfast or brunch. Enjoy!

CANCER
June 21-July 22

You are entering a cycle of good health and increased energy, accompanied by a feeling of being master of your world.

All signs point to successes in love, work and play for Cancer.

This is also the time to finish projects that have been put on hold.

If you are in the process of buying or selling real estate or contemplating making a major investment in a new automobile or motor home, avoid signing papers until after midweek.

LEO
July 23-Aug. 22

Early in the week career frustrations clear up and you and your mate feel free to make vacation plans.

A long-distance telephone call adds another dimension, giving you the go ahead to fulfill a longtime fantasy.

Midweek, close friends' actions prove disappointing, resulting in a chilly atmosphere when you're together. Adjustments in attitude and outlook will have to be made if you want to continue the relationship.

VIRGO
Aug. 23-Sept. 22

You can expect good financial news early in the week, along with recognition from superiors.

Midweek a flurry of social occasions leaves you overtired and dreading the demands of necessary domestic chores and shopping.

Avoid adding to your frustrations by getting out and about early in the day when energy is at its peak.

Planning quiet pursuits for late day and evening hours with family members only should help to maintain a peaceful atmosphere.

LIBRA
Sept. 23-Oct. 22

Frustrations will surround your search for a permanent mate during this period. Look inward for answers, Libra. Perhaps you aren't ready for the total involvement and/or the intimacy a long-term arrangement involves.

Relax and wait for the stars to position themselves favorably in your house of romance.

Your dedication to your job gains the attention of higher-ups with rewarding consequences, and later friends help you to celebrate.

SCORPIO
Oct. 23-Nov. 21

A magnetic storm raging through Scorpio's house of romance creates a disturbance of the atmosphere. Conflicts can be avoided if you focus on taking things slow and easy when dealing with your beloved.

A coworker has given you good advice. Take it, and ignore office gossip and intrigue. In a short time, offers of several career changes will come your way.

The weekend finds you mediating a family ruckus, which proves to be much ado about nothing. Good luck.

SAGITTARIUS
Nov. 22-Dec. 21

Some single Sagittarians may have ambivalent feelings toward current datemate this week. Now that you are growing older, you want it all; someone who is not only sexy, but supportive and helpful. For compatible candidates, look to persons born under the signs of Aries and Leo.

During this period you can expect conflict with authority at your work place.

Financial confusion causes disturbance for marrieds.

CAPRICORN
Dec. 22-Jan. 19

Go out of your way to avoid confrontations with colleagues early on, as unfolding events will change your position and possibly your point of view.

The movement of the planets is in favor of married Capricorns at this time.

Both male and female Capricorns feel a resurgence of the love that attracted them to their spouses, along wth the comforting realization that they've gained not only a lover, but a best friend, as well.

If your birthday is this week . . .

Lucky you! Promotions and raises are on the horizon at work. The boss has his eye on you so keep your nose to the grindstone. You'll be rewarded.

And that's only the beginning. If you are single you very well may soon meet Mr. or Miss Right.

It could happen at a traffic light waiting for the "Walk" sign. If you already have a mate, your romance is due for a boost.

The winter will produce opportunity for a trip to a big, exciting city — perhaps in Europe. Jump at the chance and

AQUARIUS
Jan. 20-Feb. 18

Recent exercise programs have proven beneficial for some Aquarians. Your body is responding, and you feel that you're functioning at the peak of health.

Midweek, evidence that you have allowed your debts to pile up becomes obvious when a demanding letter arrives. Phone calls will not help this time. Seek professional counseling on money management.

Over the weekend your partner showers you with love and attention, which helps to soothe your spirit.

PISCES
Feb. 19-Mar. 20

Unfriendly clouds are gathering strength for some Pisces. This could indicate troublesome times with your career, or perhaps a crisis with your helpmate.

Avoid confrontations with any and all, and focus on maintaining your dignity until skies clear.

This is an excellent time to shop for those needed additions to your wardrobe.

Restore your energies because demands will be made on you in the not-too-distant future.

PIGGYBACKING rooster gets a ride on a sheep that gobbled up some hallucinogenic mushrooms.

Sheep eat LSD and go bonkers!

By DAMON RAY

Sheep are tripping like Woodstock hippies thanks to a crop of hallucinogenic mushrooms that sprouted on islands off the coast of Scotland!

Authorities say the animals can't resist the mushrooms, which contain a natural type of LSD and cause them to hallucinate for hours.

According to reports, the sheep:

- Stumble and fall like drunks.
- Run in terror from imaginary predators.
- Wander into roads and refuse to move, even for speeding traffic.
- Have lost all interest in sex.
- Walk sideways and backwards, bleating crazily.
- Won't eat anything but mushrooms even though they have no nutritional value and taste like old leather.

The sheep even let other barnyard animals, like chickens, roost on their backs without flinching.

"They're wrecked," Dr. Phillip Johnston of the North of Scotland Agriculture College, told reporters.

"I have never seen sheep behave like this. They're literally out of their minds.

"But as long as the mushrooms are growing, the sheep are going to eat them. They must like the way they feel when they're tripping.

"They act crazy — but they look like they're having a good time."

Shepherds alerted authorities after their herds began to behave strangely in August.

Animal experts traced the problems to the mushrooms, which grow wild and in great numbers in the Shetland Islands when weather conditions are right.

"In a few more weeks the mushrooms will be gone and the sheep will return to normal," said Dr. Johnston. "In the meantime the shepherds are going to have to keep a close eye on their flocks.

"As long as they're under the influence of drugs they're in danger of hurting themselves."

Groom chokes to death on a piece of wedding cake!

TRAGIC hubby Markus Daniels, shown in this 1984 photo, choked to death at his wedding.

Trudy Daniels watched in shock and disbelief as her new hubby choked to death on a piece of wedding cake!

"It should have been the happiest day of my life," Mrs. Daniels, 23, said after the death of her husband, Markus Daniels, 24, in Lugano, Switzerland.

"Markus and I started dating in high school and had planned on our wedding for seven years. Now he's dead and I'm alone. All I have is his name."

By IRWIN FISHER

The mind-blowing drama unfolded after the couple were married in St. Marks Church and drove to a country club for their reception.

After sharing a glass of champagne and greeting more than 200 guests, the new husband and wife sliced their wedding cake.

On a photographer's cue, they shoved pieces into each other's mouth. Daniels bit into his — and immediately began to choke.

"I thought he was clowning around," said bridesmaid Catherine Wolfrath. "Everybody else thought he was joking, too.

"But then he doubled over and made these gasping and gagging noises. He fell to the floor and you could see that he was in serious trouble.

"His face was blue."

Desperate efforts to clear the man's throat and revive him failed. And by the time an ambulance arrived, he was clearly dead.

Mrs. Daniels went into shock and was hospitalized overnight for observation. Three days later she and most of the people who attended the wedding returned to St. Marks — for Daniels' funeral.

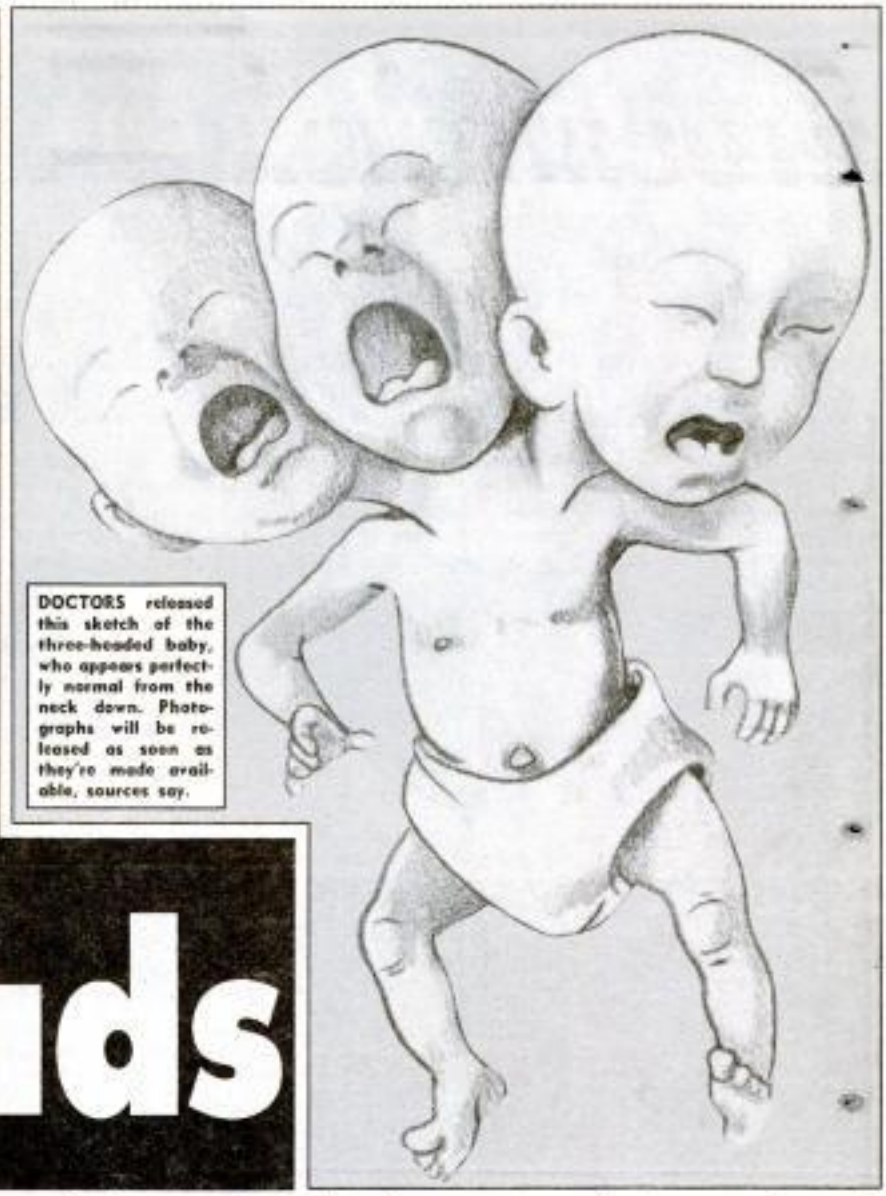
Baby born with 3 heads



DOCTORS released this sketch of the three-headed baby, who appears perfectly normal from the neck down. Photographs will be released as soon as they're made available, sources say.

Shocked docs say healthy, 9-lb. boy is doing fine!

By IRWIN FISHER

A Chinese woman has given birth to the world's most unusual baby, a little boy with a bull neck and three squalling heads!

DR. Lancho Chi-Tung

The infant, named Kang-Kang, weighed a healthy nine pounds at birth and is said to be perfectly normal from the neck down.

His mother is also said to be doing well after the delivery of the baby by cesarean section on August 18. She did go into shock, however, when she saw that the boy had three heads.

But the woman has since recovered and is bravely coming to terms with the fact that little Kang-Kang isn't like other children — he's actually three kids in one.

"This child stands alone in the realm of human oddity," Dr. Lancho Chi-Tung, who delivered the baby in a Beijing hospital, told reporters.

"It is too early to say whether we can surgically remove one or both of the baby's extra heads.

"In the meantime we are all thrilled that Kang-Kang is healthy and happy and eating well.

"Every day he survives increases the chances that he will live to a ripe age."

Hospital officials refuse to release photos of the baby and won't reveal the mother's name. They did say that both she and the baby will remain in the hospital for several weeks.

Barring complications, they will be allowed to go home on November 1.

In a report to the Chinese press, Dr. Lancho noted that the baby's heads are all of normal size and perfectly formed.

They appear to have distinct personalities. But when one head cries the others follow suit.

The head in the middle will be saved, said Dr. Lancho, if the spares are removed.

"A dozen or so two-headed babies are born every year but this three-headed baby is a first," said the physician.

"These oddities occur when the mother's egg begins to split to form triplets or twins but stops before the separation is complete."

Several years ago Chinese doctors reported the birth of Siamese triplets — three girls who were attached at the waist.

Nobody in the Western world knows what happened to the tragic creature. Their best guess is that it died.

HE WAS MY

By DICK DONOVAN

Sheriff's Detective Jim Dickinson had promised to give his little buddy Brian Sullivan a ride in a patrol car. But it was a promise the bighearted cop would never keep because he was gunned down in the line of duty!

A couple of days later, 10-year-old Brian got his ride in a patrol car — when he was driven to Jim's funeral by another cop who knew all too well the pain tearing at the youngster's heart. "It wasn't any fun," Brian told The NEWS as he sat with his mom in their home near West Palm Beach, Fla. "Jim was my friend . . . my best friend . . . and he was dead

Hot new fad: Dressing like a nerd

Cool dudes everywhere are putting on their white socks, button-down collar shirts and black-rimmed glasses so they can follow the latest fad in men's clothing — nerdism.

By SUSAN JIMISON

Yes, that's right. Geeks are in, according to fashion pundits.

After decades where the dork was despised, he's now the hot new he-man of the 80s.

"The nerd begins in the 1950s as one of society's victims and he rises in the 80s to be a hero," said Richard Martin, curator of "From Jocks to Nerds," an exhibit of men's fashion trends at the Fashion Institute of Technology in New York City.

Martin says creepy nerd clothing is now in vogue among intellectual city dwellers. Tired of punk, the fellows are slipping into something a bit more ridiculous and winding up looking like Pee-wee Herman.

Their pant legs end before their ankles begin. Pocket protectors perch in shirt pockets. Plaids are mismatched and hairstyles are, well, wonky.

"You need to be very self-confident and somewhat connew-nerd dresser, Christopher Pallo of Baltimore. "You know that you're not dressed like everyone else, but you still look good."

"It's calculated, it's extreme," agrees his neonerd friend Keith Juppert. "The things are often all cotton, linen or silk. You wouldn't see somebody trying to pull this off in a brown, textured polyester suit."

One expert sees the new era of the gorgeous geek as a return to an admiration of intellectuals in our society. Robert Chapman, author of the New Dictionary of American Slang, says Americans are worried about losing in the battle for technological leadership and brainy mathematicians, engineers and other nerds.

"The cycle that we capsulized with the 'Me generation,' which was basically anti-work, may be turning around a bit," he said. "The new nerds are confessing, 'Yeah, you nerds were right about something.' "

TV — with Pee-wee Herman and MTV's new wave rocker Elvis Costello — has boosted the trend and fashion-conscious males the country over are invading thrift shops for secondhand horrors to wear.

"Geek has been around for a long time, but it's finally coming into its own," said Chapman.

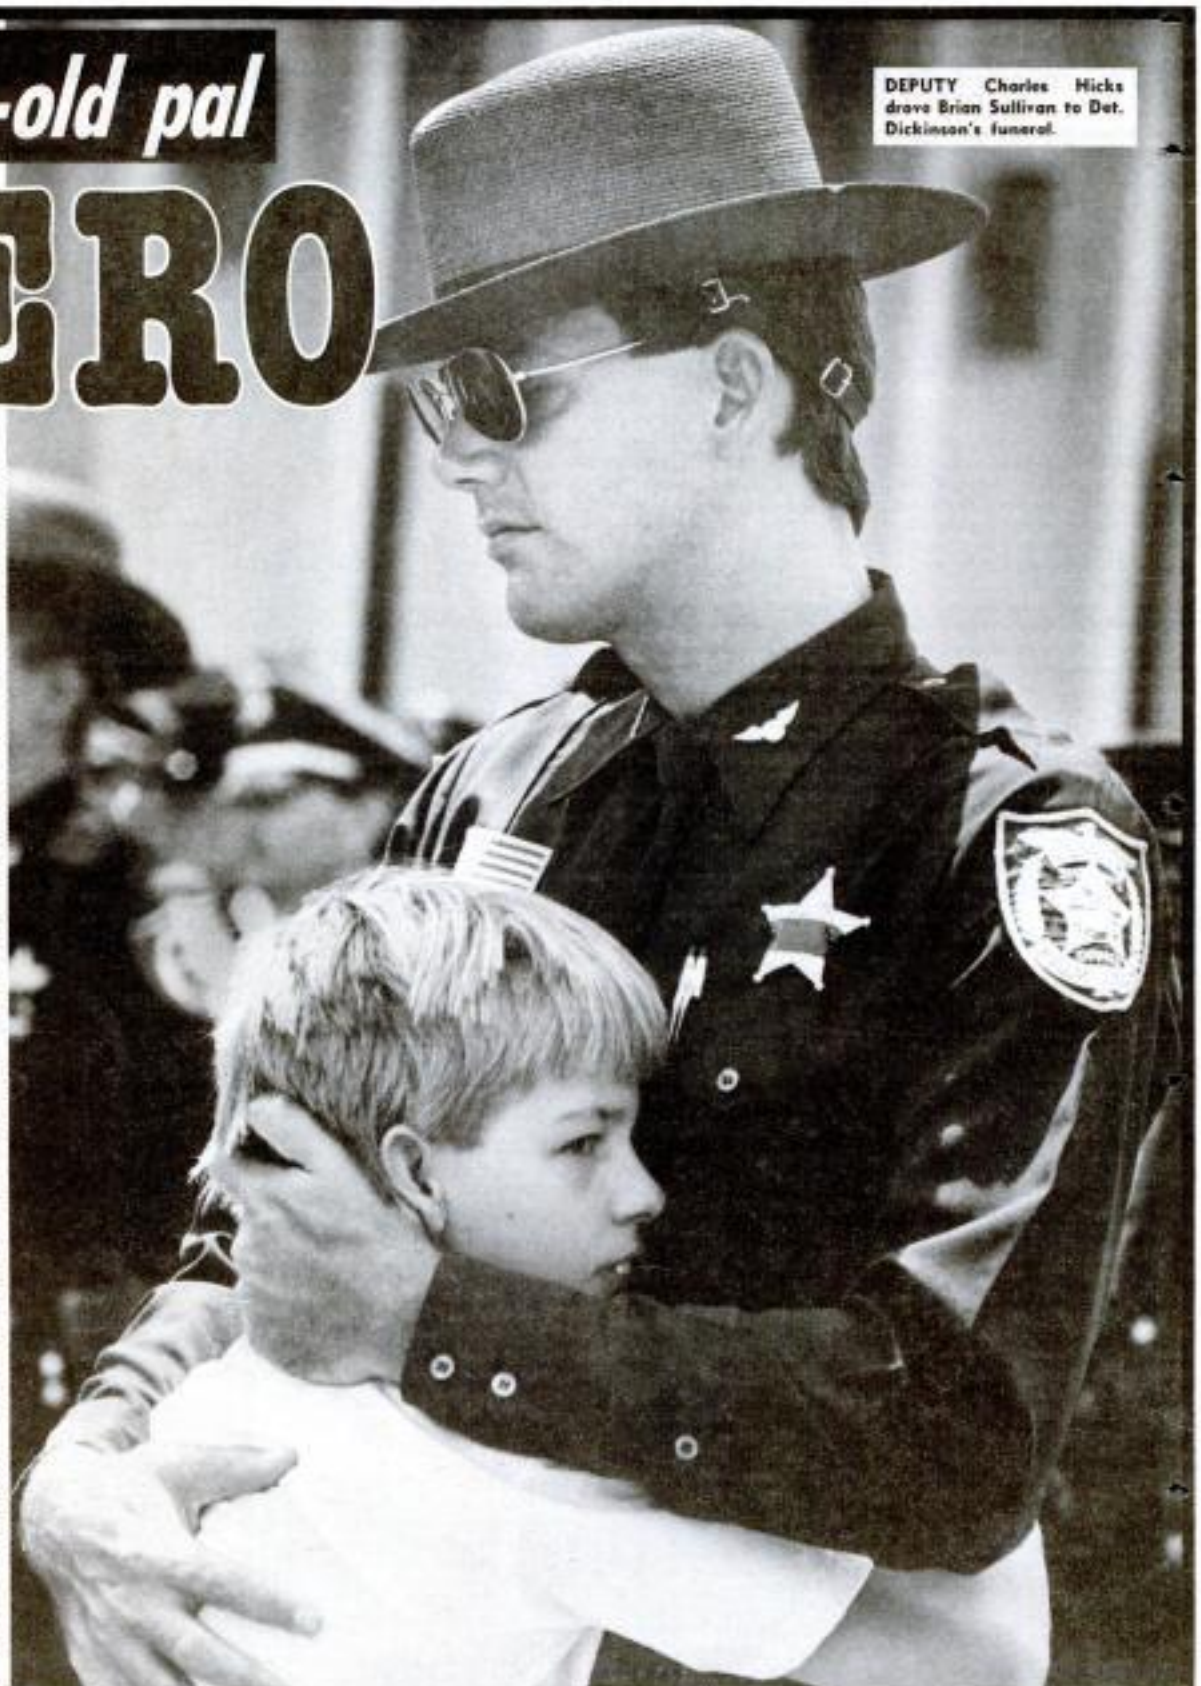
HERO



DEPUTY Charles Hicks drove Brian Sullivan to Det. Dickinson's funeral.

. . . and I was going to the funeral home to see him."

Dickinson, a 29-year-old detective with the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office, was shot down in cold blood as he approached the porch of a suburban house to pick up a man committed to an alcohol abuse treatment center.

Cops say Dickinson, a handsome, somewhat shy bachelor who loved kids and wanted to get married and raise a family, was shot in the head by 42-year-old David Boswell, who fired a .30-caliber rifle through a screen door.

"My mom heard about it on the TV news," Brian said. "I was asleep and she woke me up and told me Jim had been shot . . . that he was dead. I felt terrible and I cried."

Anna Sullivan, who's been raising her son on her own for almost 10 years without any help from her ex-husband, believes the deep friendship that grew between Brian and Dickinson was a good experience for the boy.

"Brian doesn't know his own father," she explained. "Jim was his role model and Brian has wanted to be a policeman ever since I can remember.

"He loved and admired Jim. He wanted to be a policeman just like him. He still does. But in the few days after Jim was killed, he did a lot of growing up. Jim was the first real love Brian has had . . . and lost."

The day before Dickinson was gunned down, he had stopped by to see Brian before going on duty. Brian asked his friend for a ride in his patrol car.

"He told Brian he couldn't do it then, that he had to go on duty and didn't have the time," Anna recalled. "He promised to do it in a couple of days. But the next day, he was dead."

When Sheriff's Deputy Charles Hicks heard about the ride Dickinson promised to Brian, he got in touch with Brian's mom.

Jim Dickinson had been Hicks' best friend and he'd see that the promise was kept. He drove Brian to the funeral home in his patrol stranger to the pain and anguish that Brian is feeling now. As a boy, he, too, had wanted to be a cop — just like his sister's boyfriend. And Hicks was heartbroken when that cop, like Brian's pal Jim, was gunned down in the line of duty.

and wants to be Brian's pal," Anna said.

"He's a nice person," Brian said of his new police buddy.

Nobody will ever take his place."

Boswell is charged with first-degree murder and is being held without bond.
